

INTENDED VICTIM OF MURDER PLOT HELD AS ROBBER

Ralph A. Wood of Detroit Identified as Participant in Bank Holdup at Sturgis, Mich.

SAID TO HAVE STOOD GUARD AT DOOR

His Estranged Wife Recently Was Arrested as Instigator of Conspiracy to Kill Him.

By The Associated Press. DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 25.—Carol T. Holt and Ralph A. Wood, central figures in the frustration of an alleged plot to kill the latter, were arrested today as suspected bank robbers.

Wood and Holt are charged with participating in the holdup of the Sturgis (Mich.) National Bank on Dec. 17 last. Five men took part in the robbery and escaped with $15,000 in cash and with negotiable securities to the amount of $50,000.

Police declared that witnesses have identified Wood and Holt as two of the robbers.

Requests for the warrants were made by J. T. Sloane, assistant prosecutor of St. Joseph County, in which Sturgis is located.

Both Are Identified.

Wood was arrested at his home in Wyandotte, a suburb, and Holt was arrested in the county jail, where he had been a voluntary prisoner since an alleged mysterious attack upon him in his home Tuesday.

Wood was identified in Detroit last Monday night by Joseph W. Parrish, manager of a 5-and-10-cent store in Sturgis, and Holt by Miss Helen Craine, bookkeeper of the bank.

The alleged plot to kill Wood resulted in the death of Ambrose L. Hagerty and the arrest, Jan. 9, of Mrs. Grace M. Wood, estranged wife of Wood, and two men, William Thompson and Taylor Pierce. Wood shot and killed Hagerty as the latter was about to blackmail him at the door of the Wood offices. Wood charged that his wife instigated the murder plot.

"A Big Joke," Says Holt.

Police said today that he had been in possession of information that Hagerty, Thompson and Pierce were in Sturgis the day after the bank robbery. A week ago photographs of Wood, Holt, Thompson and Pierce were taken to Sturgis.

Parrish and Miss Craine picked up Wood and Holt first, Parrish saying the photograph of Wood was that of the one-armed man who "stood guard at the door" of the bank, while Miss Craine selected that of Holt as "the man that came into the cage." Parrish was in the bank on business at the time.

Hoy Berchert, a farmer, who went into the Sturgis bank while the holdup was on, said he could not identify Wood or Holt.

Wood's only comment on his arrest was "who was instrumental in making this done?"

Holt's comment, "I wasn't in this bank robbery, but I remember the time quite well, because of a conversation I had with Mrs. Wood. She asked me 'Has Wood still got his mustache?' I said I didn't know. The next time I saw him I found that he still had the mustache, so I told Mrs. Wood."

Told of Murder Plot.

"That conversation was only a day or two after the robbery and I remember the account of the affair because one of the five robbers had one arm, just like Wood. That and the conversation about Wood's mustache fixed the time in my mind."

Holt's story to the police about the reputed plot to kill Wood resulted in elaborate preparations to frustrate it. Even newspaper cameras men were on the scene as Ambrose Hagerty lifted his arm to strike down Wood at the entrance to the latter's office. Inside were a group of police and Sheriff's deputies.

Wood had padded his derby hat with deflated inner tubes. He fired, however, before the black-jack descended and Hagerty fell dead in the snow. Two others in an automobile escaped under a broadside from officers stationed in a house nearby.

Mrs. Wood, when told of the arrest of her husband, declared Sturgis at her behest the day after the holdup in an effort to determine whether Wood had any part in it. If Taylor Pierce accompanied them, she said, she had no knowledge of it.

"I read where a one-armed bandit took part in the bank robbery," Mrs. Wood said.

RESCUED CAPTAIN TELLS OF FIGHT TO KEEP SHIP AFLOAT

I tried my best to repair this bunker-hatch with danger of losing my life. My crew, willing and courageous as they were, did not care to take this risk.

On Jan. 23, 1929, we were in continuous communication with the S. S. America, but I was unable to give them my exact position, as all my instruments were lost overboard.

At noon with our spare instrument I observed the meridian and communicated with the America to calculate my last latitude, not having on board any navigation books.

All my crew's quarters were logged with water. The only section of my ship in working order was the wireless room.

Going with the engines slowly to keep my bow to the sea, the commander of the America determined my latitude and informed me that he would be at my side to help at 5 o'clock. In the meantime I attempted once more to replace the chain of the rudder, although convinced of the futility of my attempt and the peril of the ship.

The ship still had a bad list to starboard. It was impossible to work aft with the danger of being washed overboard in the meantime. In the morning the wind calmed, but the sea was mountainous and continually breaking over my deck fore and aft.

The ship was listed so badly that the water was entering my bunker hatch. At 6:12 I sighted the America and said that my crew was saved. In accord with the America the salvage of my crew was started. I had my crew in life belts ready for the boat from the America. I placed lights on the lee side at the stern. These lights were not working properly due to short circuit of my cable lights.

It was a great maneuver on the part of the America as I could do nothing to help. I had no rockets and could make no great light for him to see. In approaching he came abeam to windward and put a lifeboat in the sea manned by volunteers and able seamen.

In a few minutes he came to the lee side of my ship just in time. The wind started from the west-northwest and the sea increased. The lifeboat came up maneuvering with great skill and threw a line to the boat. We started getting off into the boat. I counted my men one by one and was finally assured that all were on board the boat.

Next to the last man was the chief engineer. Then I threw myself into the sea, bringing with me the ship's papers and giving my last goodbye to the Florida that was sinking rapidly. The operation of saving the crew was performed very quickly with the intelligent direction of Mr. Manning and skillful aid of the lifeboat crew.

Capt. Fried to Be Honored When

Lives Boats.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Plans were being made today for a welcome to Captain George Fried and his crew of the liner America in keeping with their heroic rescue of 32 men from the sinking freighter.

Next to the last man was the chief engineer. Then I threw myself into the sea, bringing with me the ship's papers and giving my last goodbye to the Florida that was sinking rapidly. The operation of saving the crew was performed very quickly with the intelligent direction of Mr. Manning and skillful aid of the lifeboat crew.

Despite his expressed distaste of public demonstrations, it was apparent today that the citizens would permit Fried to shun the limelight, but would accord him a welcome similar to that given three years ago when he rescued the crew of the British freighter Antiope.

Six of the crew of the Florida were seriously injured, four others were very ill, and all exhausted from their fight for life.

Tentative plans announced by Police Commissioner Whalen, who is also chairman of the Mayor's Welcoming Committee, call for a parade up Broadway from the Battery and a reception at City Hall.

Whalen will go down the bay on the city tug Maconi, meet the America and escort it to its pier. Fried, Chief Officer Harry Manning, who commanded the lifeboat and the boat's crew of eight are to be taken aboard the tug to the Battery whence they will ride in a procession up Broadway.

Hoover scarcely hoped to land a tarpon, as the season is yet young for this game fish. Fishermen have reported an abundance of other species, however, such as various members of the amber jack family, groupers, sail fish, sword fish, dolphin, tuna and barracuda.

There also are plenty of sharks in these waters, and if the President-elect does not hook one, his friends agree, he will be lucky.

While Hoover is uncommunicative about his fishing, some of those who are with him regard the catching of a sail fish as the task calling for great finesse.

How Sail Fish Bite.

This deep sea species first strikes the bait, then backs away to see what effect the thrust of his long sword beak has had. When he comes back, fishermen say, one must set the hook.

Those in the parties of the two boats are Mrs. Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Milbank, G. Edward Lowry of New York, Mark Sullivan, New York writer, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Richey of Washington. No press representatives are with him.

During the daylight hours when fish are to be had Mr. Hoover will forget about Cabinet and legislative matters, but in the evening hours, when the quiet, even hours of the night are upon him, he will turn his thoughts to some pressing business at hand.

To aid him he had with him a personal secretary to whom he can dictate letters, the mailing of which may have to await the end of his excursion Saturday, when the party will return to the J. C. Penney estate on Belle Isle. Mrs. Hoover also has her personal secretary with her.

Tells of Newman's Malice.

Oscar Jackson, a Negro convict from Chester penitentiary, was examined by the defense in an effort to show that Newman was moved primarily by malice in his testimony for the Government.

Jackson declared he heard Newman remark on various occasions in the prison, "There's nobody I couldn't send to the penitentiary." "Boswell is trying to muck me up and I know what I can do for him," and "I've got enough in my mind to send him to the penitentiary."

Oren Coleman, Sheriff of Williamson County, Charles Faris, a Johnston City gambler, denied that he had paid protection money to Hezlie Byrn, former Chief of Police there and a defendant in the case on trial. He denied that he had discussed "protection" with Ben Rightnow, another gambler and resort keeper.

Ernest Tisch of Johnston City testified that his Essex coach had been stolen and that Byrn, finding it on the highway, had returned it to him. The Government had attempted to show that Byrn traded the machine to Birger for another car.

HOOVER REMAINS IN SECLUSION ON 'SEA FISHING TOUR

Only Few Who Accompanied Him Know Place Along Florida Coast Where He Is Angling.

By The Associated Press.

KEY LARGO, Fla., Jan. 25.—Herbert Hoover was somewhere off the Keys near here again today, still pursuing the big game fish that have lured him to this section of the Florida coast for the fifth time in recent years.

Since boarding the yacht "Amity" yesterday afternoon, the next President has been lost to all save the little group of companions. The small fishing boat in which he and a single companion trolled last yesterday may have been seen from a distance by other craft, but if the President-elect was recognized no word of it has been brought ashore.

What luck Hoover has had also remains among the things yet to be reported. Fishermen from Miami Bay who usually come down here have been told to keep away from certain grounds around the Keys.

Secret Service Men Near.

The Coast Guard boat, with the four secret service men making up the Hoover guard, presumably is hovering at a discreet distance so as not to interfere with the President-elect's fishing.

Hoover scarcely hoped to land a tarpon, as the season is yet young for this game fish. Fishermen have reported an abundance of other species, however, such as various members of the amber jack family, groupers, sail fish, sword fish, dolphin, tuna and barracuda.

ELLIS W. COOK ESTATE INVENTORIED AT $365,996

Bonds Amounted to $243,942; Other Property Held by Widow.

An inventory of the estate of Ellis Wainwright Cook, filed today, fixed its value at $365,996.77, of which all but $20,000 was personal property. The residence at 5783 Lindell drive, which was held jointly by Mr. and Mrs. Cook, and which passed directly to the widow, is not included. Bonds amount to $243,942.34. In the list of stocks, 225 shares of the Mercantile Trust Co. appear but these shares, and 505 shares of the American Wine Co., are not included in the total, as they have been adjudged the property of Mrs. Caroline D. Cook.

Mr. Cook died Nov. 30 of injuries inflicted in an automobile accident near Stanton, Ill. He was 38 years old, and was president treasurer of the American Wine Co., in which position he succeeded his father, the late Douglas G. Cook.

STOCK TRADE

Commercial Investment Trust and American Machine & Foundry 7 to 10 points. The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 5,500,000 shares.

Green Cananea jumped 4 1/2 points at opening. Radio and Canadian Pacific 4 points. St. Joseph Lead 3 points and New York Central Consolidated Gas and Bethlehem Steel 2 1/2 points. National Cash Register, which had a spectacular rise yesterday, yielded a fraction.

Wall street had been expecting that the increase in brokers' loans might run anywhere up to $200,000,000. The fact that the actual increase for the week was only $48,000,000, despite the heavy trading, was interpreted as indicating that stock had been passing into stronger hands.

The increase in the reserve ratio of the New York Federal Reserve Bank to 90 per cent from 70.8 per cent, taking it within less than 1 per cent of the ratio of a year ago, was regarded as casting a rosy hue over the credit situation than has been seen for months.

Some of Early Gains.

Steels forged ahead on resumption of Bethlehem common dividends and its excellent earnings report for the last quarter.

U. S. Steel opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 139, up 5 1/2 points, and Bethlehem opened at 86, up 2 1/2. American Steel Foundries opened with a block of 15,000 shares and moved up 4 points to a new top.

Motors also resumed their upward trend, under the leadership of Nash, which opened with a block of 32,000 shares at 115, up 6 points and a record price for the present stock.

Some Irregularity Develops.

A little irregularity cropped out during the forenoon as call money was in scant supply at a renewal rate of 6 per cent, but wild bullish demonstrations went forward in a wide assortment of issues. Johns-Manville jumped 15 points to a record price at 226, and American Smelting 7 points to a new peak at 111 1/2. Union Carbide rose nearly 10 points, while Radio mounted 8. Nash touched 117. Dozens of important issues rose from three to four points.

After his defeat for re-election to the railway commission, it has been shown in the investigation. Browne succeeded Davis as director of the Middle West N. E. L. A. division and as secretary of the Nebraska section.

A letter of May 5, 1927, from Davis to John M. Cadby, secretary of the Wisconsin Utilities Association, was introduced in reference to the Browne defeat.

"Our people were particularly interested in him," Davis wrote, "and lost immeasurably in his defeat. They figured they owed him something—true enough. He is a judge, a philosopher, methodical, studious, impelling in personality, opinionated and naturally executive."

Healy wanted to know why Davis said that the utility interests felt they owed Browne something, and the witness said this was because they felt Browne had been satisfactory to them in dealing with matters which they had before the Railway Commission.

Davis testified that the utility companies had financed the sending out of a questionnaire by O. O. Buck, secretary of the Nebraska Press Association, to newspaper editors. One introduced into evidence was signed by John Berney.

ASSERTS UTILITIES GAVE TO NEBRASKA CAMPAIGN IN 1926

H. M. Davis Before Federal Trade Commission Says He Heard Thorne Browne Got Funds.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A statement that he had been told that Nebraska utility companies had contributed to the 1926 primary campaign of Thorne Browne, who unsuccessfully sought re-election to the State Railway Commission, was made in the Federal Trade Commission's utilities investigation today by Horace M. Davis of Lincoln, Neb.

Davis, after previous refusals to answer, named F. E. Healy, secretary of the Insurance Federation of Nebraska, as the man who gave him the information. He identified Healy only upon the insistence of Commissioner McCulloch, presiding, after questions by Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, were ignored.

A former director of the Middle West division, National Electric Light Association, Davis said he had declined to identify Healy because he "would be seriously under question now if it was known that he gave me this information, which he probably wasn't supposed to."

Davis said he had talked with utility men in supporting Browne's candidacy.

Why He Supported Him.

"Did you discuss with anybody a contribution from utility companies to Browne's campaign?" asked Healy.

Davis said he had, but declined to name the man. He said his reason for supporting Browne was that he could not remember whether a sum was agreed on. The seemed to him that how much was needed had been discussed, but that he could not remember whether a man was agreed on. The matter of contributions was not discussed further, he said. Asked why, he replied that he thought it was under suspicion in Republican circles because he was a Democrat while Browne was a Republican.

After his defeat for re-election to the railway commission, it has been shown in the investigation. Browne succeeded Davis as director of the Middle West N. E. L. A. division and as secretary of the Nebraska section.

A letter of May 5, 1927, from Davis to John M. Cadby, secretary of the Wisconsin Utilities Association, was introduced in reference to the Browne defeat.

WILKINS FILMS SHOOTING OF WHALE 100 FEET LONG

Sea Beast Weighs 100 Tons—Explorer Occasionally Hears Byrd's Radio Distinctly.

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS, Commander of the Wilkins Antarctic Expedition. (Copyright, 1929.)

DECEPTION ISLAND, Antarctica, Jan. 24. (via Whaler Hektor and KUP Wireless Station).—We have just returned from a trip on a whale catcher, during which I filmed the shooting of an exceptionally fat whale. It measured nearly 100 feet and weighed over 100 tons.

Every last particle of the whales brought to this station is conserved either as oil or fertilizer, and the estimated value of the whale we saw taken is more than $5000.

We are daily expecting confirmation that the boat will call for us next Sunday to take us to the Falkland Islands in time to connect with the Royal Mail Steamer Orundana.

We can occasionally hear Commander Byrd's radio distinctly and we constantly call him and the Ross sea whalers, but get no response.

Charges Combine in "Talkies."

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Abram F. Myers, head of the Allied States Exhibitors' Association, has asked the Department of Justice to institute injunction proceedings to stop what he alleges is unfair practice in the exhibition of talking motion pictures. Myers, a former Assistant Attorney-General and until recently chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, urged that the Government restrain producers of the talking movie equipment from entering into agreements with picture producers under which the films cannot be leased for reproduction on machines not approved by the equipment manufacturers.

of the Bartlett Independent, which answered an inquiry whether public ownership of utilities was as profitable for newspapers as private ownership in the negative.

Although his official connection with the N. E. L. A. in Nebraska, has been severed, Davis testified that he still receives an average of $150 a month in connection with the preparation of digests of state news for circulation in his bulletin.

"Want Some Superman."

"Our company executives," Davis' letter continued, "have an unconscious feeling that they want some Superman to study Muscle Shoals, Boulder Dam and other such big matters and tell the executives what to think so that they will have more time to golf and play hooky. Mr. Browne is the very boy to do that for 'em. When Browne was offered a good place at Washington and threatened to go, our men engaged him instantly but without thinking just what they would do with him. You can see the logical result. They look upon him as a judge and upon me as secretary, a hired man. I cannot bring myself to the point of working under Browne. I will work for him—like and I have been the best of personal friends for 20 years—but I can scarcely become a clerk."

AYOR MILLER OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR SECOND TERM

Says He Has Given City an Honest Administration and Has Spent Bond Issue Funds Intelligently.

AT MEETING IN THIRTEENTH WARD

Many Municipal Employees
From Major Departments
Help to Fill South Side Hall.

My principal ambition as Mayor
is to help build a greater city.
Mayor Miller declared last night in a speech formally opening his cam paign for re-election. He asserted that the greatest value had been ob tained for every dollar spent by the city in his first term and that bond issue funds had been expended in telligently.

Miller and his chief opponent for the Republican nomination, for Mayor Kiel, both claim credit for the different reasons, for the 1923 bond issue of $37,372,500, and it is a principal issue of the cam paign.

The scene of Miller's speech was South Side Odd Fellows' Hall,
Gravois avenue and Potomac street.
The meeting, attended by about 400 men and women, including many city employees from all the major departments, was held by the Thirteenth Ward Miller-for Mayor Club. Among those on the city payroll present were Director of Public Welfare Salisbury, a member of the Mayor's "cabinet," and several salaried executives of the city.

Rain turning to sleet
and falling, but great schools
of children prevented the organiza tion from filling the hall to overflowing.
Bombs were discharged to attract attention to the gathering.

Politically Debatable Territory.
There was strategy in the selection of the locality for the Mayor's opening speech. Circuit Clerk Schuch, a supporter of Kiel, is power in this big and preponder
antly Republican South Side ward,
the Thirteenth. A Miller man, Her man Krahl, was defeated for the Republican City Committee there by Louis Reidel, aligned with the Kiel-Kiel forces.

There possibly will be six contend ers for the Republican aldermanic nomination there. It is politically debatable territory. The Miller club will seek to avoid endorsing any aldermanic candidate, although the Kiel group has endorsed Alder man Xeu for re-election.

Harry Brinkman, president of the Miller club and a son of Christian Brinkman, who was president of the Board of Assessors, presided.
He was aided by Ralph Panzer,
who is assistant to the City Assessor.

Arriving after preliminary speeches, Mayor Miller was escorted through a side door of the stage,
where he stood with hands behind his back, smiling broadly, during the applause. Tall and broad-shouldered, he didn't have the same time of youthfulness that marked his appearance in his first campaign. He wore a double-breasted blue suit and light tie. His cheeks had a ruddy glow. With thumbs in his coat pockets, he acknowledged the in roduction and said, in a phrase characteristic of baseball, "It looks like first division."

Reads His Address.
Explaining that his formal plat form would be issued soon, he re marked, "Sometimes a platform has been used to get in on and not stand on," and then, in a drawl
ing voice and with long pauses, announced once or twice by an emphatic sag of the forehead, he read the following address:

"I am formally announcing my can didacy for re-election as Mayor of St. Louis. I wish to express my ap preciation of the spirit of co-opera tion from all groups of citizens that has helped to make the present administration a success. It is of particular pride that many of those who did not favor my elec tion four years ago have worked wholeheartedly for the adminis tration in seeking to make St.
Louis a city of better homes, larger business and a happier place in which to live.

"Four years ago I pledged the citizens of St. Louis that if elected there would be an efficient and ward-looking administration.
That that above everything else would be honest value received for every dollar spent. This promise has been kept. Four years ago the voters were told by me that the money would be spent in telligently and in accordance with the best engineering and business practices. That promise has been kept.

"It has been my endeavor to do all things possible to advance St.
Louis morally, materially and so cially. St. Louis now enjoys a wards of the city are cared for as well as in any city in America. I am grateful to my associates for the economical methods they have installed and carried forward in all departments of the city govern ment.

"While St. Louis has made won derful strides, while we all love to picture the completed bond-issue program; while we are proud our parks, playgrounds and public health measures, anyone with vi sion knows that we are on the threshold of greater advancement.
I have co-operated with and al ways encouraged the influences working towards a new and greater St. Louis. The Lindbergh flight focused the world's attention on St.
Louis. We cannot rest on the laure ls put upon the brow of our most famous citizen. We would be un worthy of this godsend if we did not strive to bring every civic at tribute up to the high mark set be fore us.

"Within a short time my formal platform will be announced. For the manifestations of confidence that have come to me from individ uals and organizations, I am deeply grateful. Upon my re-election I shall feel that the present adminis tration and its efforts to satisfy the new civic consciousness are ap proved. I promise a continuation of this program, its enlargement and the benefits that naturally ac crue from four years' experience as chief officer of the city govern ment."

Says Greater City Is His Aim.
Continuing his extemporaneous speech, the Mayor said:
"It is not what you have, but what you do for others that makes you happy. My principal ambi tion as Mayor is to help build a greater city and make this not only a place to work but a place to play,
a place to live, but great schools, churches and outlying parks. All those things can't be done in a year or two."

He told of the pending enabling bills for rapid transit here and went on: "We all know transpor tation is one of the most serious things of a metropolitan city has to deal with. If the powers we have asked for are given us we may look for a wonderful city to keep rank with any city in the world.
If the people see fit to re-elect me,
I promise to do everything in my power for everybody in St. Louis and will try to furnish inspiration for my employees and my cabinet
by working myself."

Health Commissioner Starkloff, who has held office 24 years, under five Republican Mayors and one Democrat, who has been a Kiel follower and fought Miller four years ago, but who is enthusiastically supporting the Mayor now, explained that he had not known
the man well in his first campaign,
but was converted because Miller had become "the greatest factor in health conservation in the city."

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS FROM GAS
Joseph Brinkman, 63 years old, was found overcome by gas at his home, 2328 Greer avenue, at noon yesterday. Upon being revived by firemen using an inhalator Brink man, who lives alone, said he be came unconscious upon returning home Wednesday afternoon.

Brinkman was found by neigh bors, attracted by the odor of gas.
Investigation disclosed gas was escaping from a light fixture,
which had become disconnected.
Brinkman is in a serious condition
at City Hospital.

KILLING BY TRUCK ACCIDENTAL
A Coroner's verdict of accidental death was returned today in the death of Wayne Warfield, 45, a Negro, who was killed early yesterday
when run over by a newspaper de livery truck while lying in the street in front of 2717 Franklin avenue.

Two Negroes testified that War field appeared to be intoxicated and fell down in the street in the path of the truck. The driver of the machine, Arthur Zimmer, did not testify.

RIOTOUS DEMONSTRATION BY CAPE TOWN UNEMPLOYED

Incident to Opening of Parliament; Food Shops Looted; Police man Injured.

By the Associated Press.
CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa,
Jan. 25.—Demonstrations by unemployed set to coincide with the opening of Parliament today culminated in serious disturbances here. In the crowded quarter of the city unruly elements looted food shops and damaged other stores. One policeman was knocked unconscious and mounted police were summoned to quell the out break.

It has been a custom of the Cape Town unemployed to hold demon strations on the opening of Parlia ment for several years, but until this year they have been peaceful affairs. The tone of recent daily meetings of unemployed, however, has been hostile to the Government and Thomas Boydell, Minister of Labor, has been singled out for his alleged failure to solve the unem ployment problem.

Early today 300 unemployed men went to Government House and handed the Governor-General's sec retary a petition signed by more than 1000 unemployed. They then went in procession through the city.

PUBLIC WHIPPING POSTS
PROPOSED FOR MISSOURI
Legislators Offer Bill Permitting Court to Order Lashing for Misdemeanors.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 25.— Establishment of whipping posts by cities and towns of Missouri, for the punishment of persons convicted of misdemeanors, is proposed in a bill introduced in the House to day by Representative James C.
Putnam of Howell County.

The bill provides that cities or towns may establish whipping posts
by ordinance, and that counties may establish them if approved by the voters in a special election.
Putnam's measure would make any person convicted of a misde meanor subject to punishment by whipping, in the discretion of the Court, the punishment to be ad ministered publicly and to consist of not less than seven lashes nor more than 20, administered by a Constable.

READY FOR RIVER DES PERES EXCAVATION AT LINDELL BL.
Excavation of a section of the River des Peres sewer project at the northern boundary of Forest Park, which will cost about $1, 000,000 and take a year to com plete, will begin within the next few days. A six-foot board fence, 300 feet long, has been erected in Forest Park near De Baliviere av enue, so that the work may not be seen from Lindell drive and to pre vent the drive from becoming lit tered with debris.

Other sections of the fence will be erected as the work progresses.
The excavation will start near the cartmaker's house west of Union boulevard and continue west to Cross Lindell drive at the River des Peres bridge.

YEAGER AND LOWRY CONTINUE TO HOPE

Condemned Men Say They Are Ready to Die, but Still Await Clemency.

Leonard R. Yeager and Thomas
E. Lowry, sentenced to be hanged at the City Jail next Friday for murder, today, talked to reporters in Tier No. 1 on the second floor, which they occupy exclusively.
Each said he was prepared to die,
although still hoping for clemency.
Yeager is 31 years old. Lowry is 25.

With two guards for company,
the condemned men find time passes quickly, they said. They eat, sleep, smoke, read newspapers and magazines and receive visitors.

Yeager has been visited by his mother, Mrs. Mary Yeager of Cine Ill., and the Rev. Percy Spangler of the Gospel Center, who conducts services at the jail on Saturdays.
Yeager has participated in the ser vices.

"If the worst comes to the worst,
I am prepared to die," Yeager said,
commenting on the refusal yester day of Gov. Caulfield to reduce the sentence to life imprisonment.
Lowry had the same view. The Governor has indicated he contem plates no action in Lowry's case.

Lowry had also been visited by his mother, Mrs. Mary Lowry, of St. Louis, and by a Catholic priest, Father de Villiers, who has attend ed other condemned men.

At 6 a. m. next Wednesday the 48-hour "death watch" will begin, with three Deputy Sheriffs guard ing the two prisoners, in eight hour shifts. Chief Deputy Oscar Mohrstadt said the executions would take place as soon as pos sible after 6 a. m. next Friday.

Yeager and Lowry were convicted of murders committed in 1923
—the former for killing Connors Schou, a bystander, in a holdup;
the latter for killing Policeman
Eugene Lovely in resisting arrest.
Each protested his innocence to day. Lowry asserts the bullet which killed Lovely was fired by a fellow policeman in a pistol fight.
Yeager maintains not he but his companion in the holdup, Maurice Birmingham, shot Schou. Birmingham escaped with life imprisonment.

Although both men are cheer ful, each is bitter on one point.
Yeager declares Birmingham was the leader in the holdup and mur der and intimidated him by posing as Bernie Shelton, the East Side gangster. Lowry avers police "hounded" him after he served a prison term for larceny.

MATLOCK'S WIDOW TO PLEAD INSANITY AND SELF DEFENSE

Rose Jokerst, "Rose of the Night Clubs" to Be Star
Witness for State at Trial
March 4.

Self defense and temporary in sanity will be the plea of Mrs.
Helen C. Matlock, 33 years old, charged with the murder Nov. 6
last of her husband, "Goodtime Charley" Matlock, automobile salesman, in the apartment he pro vided for another woman in the Gulld Hall Apartments, 4907 West
Pine boulevard.

The case is docketed for trial
before Circuit Judge Hall March 4, and Mrs. Matlock, who has re tained Sarpy Noonan and the law firm of Daves, Diehm, Pickissien & Burch, expects to be ready for trial.

The State's star witness against Mrs. Matlock will be the "other woman," Rose Jokerst, 21-year-old model and night club entertainer, known professionally as Rose Stel ler and "Rose of the Night Club."
It was of this young woman that Matlock was enamored and it was in her apartment and presence that he met death at the hands of his wife.

She Waited Two Hours.
The State will charge that Mrs.
Matlock with premeditation lay in wait in the apartment where he was keeping the Jokerst woman and without provocation shot him down.

As has been told, Mrs. Matlock traced her husband to the apart ment in the Gulld Hall and went there expecting to find him. Only the Jokerst woman was there and Mrs. Matlock, pistol in hand, re mained with her for two hours, un til Matlock called. He had a key to the apartment and as he opened the door his wife opened fire and her husband fell dead across the threshold.

She will plead that she rushed at her threateningly and that she fired in self-defense. She will re late incidents of their married life over a period of four years in which she will seek to prove that he was savagely brutal to her; that he flaunted illicit love affairs in her face, and had repeatedly threatened to kill her if she ever attempted to leave him or come between him and his women.

Will Attack Character.
She will have physicians who will testify, she said, that they treated her on numerous occasions following alleged brutal acts by her husband, and she will contend that the killing was the climax of a long series of outrages that left her almost bereft of reason.

Matlock, she will seek to show,
was a police character, having been arrested 16 times, and she will tes tify he was a Deputy Constable and used the authority of this office to extort money from persons in parked automobiles whom he would accuse of misconduct. She will charge further that her hus band humiliated her to the point of shame by suggesting she sue a woman for alienation with whom he was having financial trouble so the woman would not bring a suit for recovery of $27,000 she had in vested in Matlock's automobile business.

Mrs. Matlock has moved from 2501 South Grand boulevard, where she resided with her husband, and is staying temporarily with friends.

Song Writer's Rare Books Bring Total of $1,729,462

Jerome Kern's Uncut Edition of Shelley's
"Queen Mab" Sold for $68,000 at New York Auction.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Sale of the letters, manuscripts and books, which Jerome Kern, composer of popular music, collected over a period of 20 years, was concluded
last night at the Anderson Gal leries after 10 sessions which at tracted experts from all over this country and abroad. The sale re alized $1,729,462, thought to be the record total for sales of the kind.

From small beginnings, with his earnings from the music he wrote in Tin Pan Alley, Kern's taste be came cultivated as he bought and sold, weeding out the less impor tant items and purchasing more important ones. He collected what is known as "a sentimental li brary."

How judicious were his selec tions is attested by the standing of the men who came to buy. Every notable collector was represented.
The 10 auction sessions averaged $172,946 each.

The item which brought the best price—$68,000—was an uncut first edition of Shelley's "Queen Mab," regarded as the most valuable Shelley volume ever offered at pub lic auction. With the single ex ception of the Gutenberg Bible, sold last year for about $150,000,
the Shelley item takes rank as the highest price ever paid for a book.

It was purchased by Gabriel Wells,
$17,000 for "Gulliver's Travels,"
Other items include a first edition of "Gulliver's Travels," for $17,000; a part of the original manuscript of Tennyson's "Maud," sold for $9500 to Dr. A. S. W. Ros enbach; the autograph manuscript of the first three books of Pope's "Essay on Man," sold to Rosenbach for $29,000; and a 200 autograph letter quoting Mrs. Browning's opinion of "The Raven," for $19,

500, also to Rosenbach. This last was nearly as much as he earned in his whole lifetime. The sale was conducted in two sections, the first,
held last week, yielding $933,375,
and the second, ending last night, $796,087.50.

Last night's session, while short and offering comparatively few items, realized $77,997.50, the high spot being the sale to A. J. Scheur er for $3500 of the autograph manuscripts of Thackeray's lectures on King George I, George II and George IV. These were the lec tures Thackeray delivered while visiting America in 1855. Seventy two lots of Thackeray went for $72,462.

Wells bought Thackeray's "Van ity Fair," a presentation copy to Charlotte Bronte after her dedica tion to Thackeray of "Jane Eyre," for $3600. Another work of Thackeray's, his "Fouque," with original drawings in colors by the author, was bought by Scheurer for $3100. Other purchases by Scheur er included eight original drawings
by Thackeray for "The Book of Snobs," for $8200, and a copy of "Leaves of Grass," by Walt Whit man, with the author's engraved portrait for $3400. Rosenbach col lected an autograph presentation copy of William Wordsworth's "Ode to the Memory of Charles Lamb" for $2500.

Kern, questioned on his reasons for disposing of his collection, re marked humorously: "As my col lection has grown, books have not only fascinated me, they have en slaved me. I never captured a prize, the prize captured me."

When Mitchell Kennerly, Kern's friend and president of the Ander son Galleries, told him one night
he was resigning his position, Kern decided to sell. "Somehow I could not think of my books ever being sold by any one else, even after my death, and in a flash I saw an es cape from my slavery."

DIVORCES G. W. M'DANIEL, WITH WHOM SHE ELOPED
Wife, 19, Gets Decree From 21-Year-Old Son of Former Cir cuit Attorney.

Mrs. Mariska M'Daniel, 19 years old, obtained a divorce today from Gilbert W. M'Daniel, 21, son of former Circuit Attorney Lawrence M'Daniel, with whom she eloped
a year and a half ago. Her maid en name, Rombauer, was restored.
The suit was filed in the name of the young woman's mother, Mrs. Betema Rombauer, 8507 Mor itz avenue, Brentwood. It was charged that M'Daniel refused to take his wife to places of enter tainment, and accused her of car ing more for her mother and broth er than for him.

M'Daniel, who entered an ap pearance in the case, filed a gen eral denial but did not contest. He resides with his parents at 5936 Waterman avenue. The plaintiff
did not ask for alimony.

Charles Eaton Charged With Cruel
ty to Animals.
Charles Eaton, 6719 Bradley av enue, was fined $50 by Police Judge cruelty to animals.

Witnesses testified that Eaton,
with a shotgun, had shot and killed
an Irish terrier belonging to Mrs.
M. J. Rioridan, 6830 Bradley av enue, on Jan. 15. Eaton denied the allegation. A charge of discharg ing a firearm within the city lim its was dismissed.

COOLIDGE FEARS BORAH'S IDEA IS NOT PRACTICABLE

Doubts Senate Would Ratify Treaties Resulting From Restatement of Neutrals' Rights in War.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—President Coolidge regards Senator Borah's suggestion for an international conference to codify maritime laws, particularly those relating to the rights of neutrals in sea warfare as theoretically a splendid suggestion, but from the practical side he doubts the possibility of obtaining ratification by the Senate of any resulting treaties.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Senator Hale (Rep.) of Maine, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, announced in the Senate today that he would make every effort to prevent the dropping of the time clause from the pending 15-cruiser bill. Hale said that he regarded this as one of the most important features of the measure.

Hale's statement was prompted by an error in a New York newspaper in reporting his attitude toward the bill. In standing for retention of the time clause, Hale, though a regular Republican,
ranged himself in direct opposition to the President who asked in his last annual message to Congress that this clause be eliminated. The bills call for the laying down of the 15 cruisers in three groups of five each, in the next three fiscal years.

Borah Favors "Paper" Ships.

Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, yesterday told the Senate that in his opinion "paper ships"—ships which have been authorized but not built—would be just as effective for bargaining purposes in a disarmament conference as real ships. Borah said that if the time limit were dropped, he would stop opposing the bill and vote for it.

Hale and others of the so-called navy group in the Senate dissented warmly from the view of Borah and the administration.

Kellogg Approves Borah's View on Neutrals' Rights.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Approval was given by Secretary Kellogg today to the proposal by Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that the cruiser bill include a call for a restatement and codification of the rules of international law governing the rights of neutrals in war, to be accomplished if possible before the 1931 conference on limitation of armaments.

"I think if there could be a conference on that subject it would be a very good thing," said Kellogg.
"It is a very important subject."

Husband of Former St. Louis Woman Succumbs to Flu.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—News of the death in Paris last Sunday of S. Walter Kaufmann, 48 years old, of New York, an international lawyer, reached here today. He was stricken with influenza a few days after his recent arrival in Paris.
The disease resulted in intestinal paralysis and an operation was performed at the American Hospital.
In 1919, Mr. Kaufmann and his law partner, the late N. R. Lindhelm, were indicted with E. R.
Rumely in connection with a report made by Rumely to the Allen Property Custodian concerning the purchase of the New York Evening Mail. The three were found guilty, but Kaufmann and Lindhelm were subsequently pardoned by President Coolidge.

Mr. Kaufmann married Dorothy Stix Millus, the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. George Millus of 2143
Westminster place, in St. Louis, in 1919. She is a graduate of Mary Institute and of Smith College. She met Mr. Kaufmann in New York in 1916. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. William Stix, widow of the late president of the Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co.

JURY CONVICTS TOMMY GUINAN

Brother of Night Club Hostess Found Guilty on Nuisance Charge.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Tommy

Guinan, brother of Texas Guinan, night club hostess, today was found guilty of aiding in the maintenance of a nuisance at a Broadway night club. Judge Thomas ordered Guinan held for sentence
Wednesday, meanwhile permitting counsel to prepare a motion for a new trial. Guinan was paroled in his attorney's custom.

Guinan's case was the first of about 50 to be settled as the outgrowth of raids by prohibition men last summer. Guinan's sister and Helen Morgan, actress, and former hostess, were arrested in separate clubs and are under indictment.
The Government has given up efforts to obtain convictions for conspiracy to violate the Volstead law, although jail sentences will be sought against the principal defendants on nuisance charges.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 25.—

Amendment of the election laws to permit absentee voting in any special, general or primary election by persons absent from their home counties on election day, is proposed in a bill signed by virtually all of the St. Louis and Kansas City members of the House. There is no provision in the present law for absentee voting in a primary election.

DETECTIVE SUES KRESGE'S FORMER WIFE FOR $32,000

New Yorker Says He Shadowed Chain Store Magnate in 8 States to Get Divorce Suit Evidence.

York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Investigation by private detectives of the conduct of Sebastian S. Kresge, chain store magnate, shadowing him in four large cities in order to serve him with a summons and procuring other evidence in eight states which led to the successful prosecution of her divorce suit against him last year, cost Mrs.
Doris Mercer $46,016, $14,019 of which she has paid. She dropped the name of her former husband.
The bill presented to her for this amount by the Val O'Farrell Detective Agency, has not been paid. This was disclosed yesterday in Supreme Court when O'Farrell filed suit to recover $32,000 with interest, which, he charged, still is due.

Although O'Farrell made a special trip to Paris last August and had a talk with the former Mrs.
Kresge there, she remained adamant in her refusal to part with anything more than the $14,019
she already had paid him for his services, those of Harry J. Connor, his associate, and the services of other operatives, an affidavit by the detective states.

Moreover, when he threatened to bring suit, he says, she told him
she would revoke two $25,000 de-quests to him and Connor in her will if he did so.

She told him at the time that she had rented the home of a Mme. Rothschild in the suburbs of Paris, he says. He also learned that she was living at the Villa De Sol Cap D'Ail, Alpes Maritimes, France, where she is studying singing with various teachers and that she does not intend to return to this country for another year or two, the affidavit relates.

Itemized accounts of his agency's services are contained in O'Far-rell's complaint. These include investigations in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Rhode Island and Maine; obtaining evidence of Kresge's misconduct with "one A. F." in Natick, Mass., and New York, and with two other women elsewhere; investigation of persons "who threatened and annoyed" her and of "one G., an alleged confidence man," and others;
personal guards for her at home
and on the street; reports and conferences, taxi bills, photographs, etc., and finally, shadowing Kresge in Detroit, Buffalo, Newark, and Rochester, in order to serve him.

The services of O'Farrell and Connor, at $50 a day for 402 days amounted to $20,100 each. Other operatives got $15 a day for 119 days. Disbursements were $4031.
Supreme Court Justice Levy granted permission to O'Farrell to serve his complaint on his former client by public attention and by mailing a copy to her in care of the Paris office of the Guaranty Trust Co.

It was acknowledged both by Kresge and his former wife at the time of their marriage in 1924 he settled $3,000,000 on her. He made a further settlement on her when her decree became final.

HIGHER STATE FEE FOR BUSES AND TRUCKS PROPOSED

Measures Introduced in Legislature Also Would Fix Maximum Speed for Various Types of Vehicles.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 25.—A contest in the Legislature between the railroads operating in Missouri and the bus and truck transportation companies is foreseen in the introduction of bills yesterday to increase the State license fee for buses, and to place trucks operated as public carriers, now under no State regulation, under the Public Service Commission, with heavy license fees.

The bills, introduced in the Senate by Senator McCawley and in the House by Representatives Elmer and Black, propose to change the present system, under which a small annual license fee is charged for the operation of buses, and put the operation on a mileage basis. At present there is no fee for trucks other than the motor vehicle license.

It is expected the measures will be supported by the railroads in an effort to curb the growing transportation of passengers by bus and the carrying of freight by truck. The railroads in recent years have curtailed local passenger service on virtually every line in the State, and have reduced local freight service.

Charge of Discrimination.
The railroads have complained that additional hard-surfaced roads have greatly increased traffic by bus and truck and that such companies are permitted to operate over State-built and State-maintained highways without charge, or at extremely low license fees, while the railroads are compelled to maintain expensive lines and pay taxes. They have said they could not meet competition so favored.

The bills no doubt will have the support of many members of the Legislature, due to the size of the buses and trucks on the highways, the charge having been made in the Legislature that such vehicles "hog" the roads and frequently force automobiles off the road.

In addition to the high license fees provided, the bills would fix maximum speeds for various vehicles. It is the theory of some legislators that if cross-state bus transportation was made a slow journey, the number of passengers would decrease materially, and that if freight deliveries by truck could be slowed down to approximately the time required for delivery by train, there would be a curtailment of business by truck.

Proposed Bus License Fees.
The proposed new bus license fees are:

For each bus with a capacity of 10 passengers or less, 5 cents a mile; 10 to 20 passenger capacity, 10 cents a mile; 20 to 30 passenger capacity, 20 cents a mile, and a capacity of more than 30, 25 cents a mile. It is proposed to limit the capacity of any bus using the highways to 40 passengers.

The present license fees are: Seven passengers or less capacity, $40 a year; 7 to 12 passenger capacity, $50 a year; 12 to 18 passenger capacity, $140 a year; 18 to 24 passenger capacity, $180 a year; capacity of more than 24, $220 a year.

Under the present rate, a bus with a capacity of 24, operating each day between St. Louis and Kansas City, would pay $180 a year. Under the proposed schedule, the same bus operating over the same route every day in the year, except Sundays, would pay in license fees more than $14,000.

The proposed speed limits for buses are: 10 passengers or less capacity, 25 miles an hour; 10 to 20-passengers, 20 miles an hour; 20 to 30 passengers, 25 miles an hour, and a bus with a capacity of more than 30, 20 miles an hour.

At this rate, a bus with a capacity of 24 would require more than 10 hours of running time for the trip across the State, compare to seven and one-half hours on the railroad.

Proposed Truck License Fees.
The proposed truck license fees are:

Trucks of 1½-ton capacity, 1 cent a mile; 1½ to 3 tons, 2 cents a mile; 3 to 5 tons, 3 cents a mile; 5 to 8 tons, 5 cents a mile. The proposed speed limits are: 1½-ton trucks, 20 miles an hour; 1½ to 3 tons, 25 miles an hour; 3 to 5 tons, 20 miles an hour; more than 5 tons, 18 miles an hour. No truck with a capacity of more than eight tons would be permitted on the highways.

The proposed law exempts from its provisions trucks in which the property of the owner is transported, and all trucks used solely within the limits of a municipality, or within five miles of the limits. All provisions necessary to give the Public Service Commission complete jurisdiction over the operation of trucks are included.

Ex-Senator Underwood Of Alabama Dies at 66

he met and defeated for the Senate Richmond Pearson Hobson, a leader of the dry cause and a national hero.

First elected to the House of Representatives from the Birmingham district of Alabama in 1894. Mr. Underwood assumed leadership of the Democrats there when they took control of the House in 1911 and on the record he made within a year his friends advanced him for the Presidential nomination at Baltimore.

Mustering nearly 100 votes, he remained in the fight until the forty-sixth ballot, when his name was withdrawn without either his knowledge or consent and his strength thrown to Woodrow Wilson.

Refusing to be considered for the Vice Presidential nomination, he continued his service in the House and contributed materially toward making Wilson's first four years of administration a period of far-reaching legislation. At the same time he brought country-wide recognition to himself as the author of a tariff bill which supplanted the famous Payne-Aldrich act.

Enters Senate.

After 20 years in the House, he moved to the Senate. With the death of Senator Thomas Martin of Virginia, he was chosen Democratic leader, a place he held until 1921. Re-elected to the Senate in 1920, he announced just before the expiration of his second six-year term that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself in 1926. Meantime he had purchased Wood lawn, on the Potomac River, a part of the original Washington estate at Mount Vernon, and there he made his home part of each year.

Entering Congress in the days of iron rule of Republican speakers, Underwood had a part in breaking the power of "Uncle Joe" Cannon and later in liberalizing the rules of the House. He gained a place on the Judiciary Committee and later served on the Ways and Means and Appropriations Committees, two of the most powerful of the House.

Leadership in the House of Representatives as it is known today began with the selection of Underwood by the Democrats for the place in 1911. Prior to his recognition as the floor chief, leadership had been dictatorship under Reed, Henderson and Cannon. A small group had reigned supreme and those who failed to do their bidding quickly felt the lash.

Author of Tariff Bill.

Commanding an almost unwieldy majority, Underwood found himself faced with a difficult task. His first concern was the writing of a new tariff act, a subject to which he had devoted years of study. He wrote a measure which he declared was "true to the principles of democracy."

President Taft vetoed that bill in the late summer of 1911 and when the Democrats were returned to full control of all functions of the Government in 1913, the bill was rewritten and signed by President Wilson.

Under Mr. Underwood's leadership were enacted also the Federal Reserve act, the farm loan act and the Clayton anti-trust act. Despite the tremendous drive that was made against the Federal Reserve act, Mr. Underwood kept his forces solidly in line on that issue, a feat which up to that time had been almost without precedent.

His service in the Senate was little less conspicuous. He had early appointment to the Appropriations Committee and, owing to the illness of Senator Martin, had charge of many of the enormous war appropriation bills. Tax legislation also felt the influence of his guiding hand in the days when the nation was bearing an unheard-of burden in order to defray much of the war cost in a single generation.

In the period immediately following the war, the Democrats lost control of Congress and Senator Underwood's opportunity for the directing of constructive work came to an end. Always fair even to the bitterest of his political opponents, his friends declared that he had a natural distaste for holding continuously a critical attitude toward all the works and ways of the opposing party, which is an essential part of minority leadership.

Won Harding's Praise.
This was one of the reasons why he did not stand for re-election as minority leader in 1922. Perhaps, also it was due to this recognized trait that President Harding turned to him in seeking a Democratic member of the Washington Arms Conference. The President and Mr. Underwood had been close personal friends in the Senate and in 1921 Mr. Harding made a trip to Alabama to speak in praise of the Senator before the "home folks."

Mr. Harding and the Senator had differed directly, however, on the League of Nations issue. The Alabama Senator consistently opposed reservations to the Treaty of Versailles and just before the final vote by which the treaty was rejected proposed that the issue be left to the voters in 1920. Harding accepted that challenge and the league became one of the chief issues in the campaign in which Harding was sent to the White House.

"24 Votes for Underwood."
While he had refrained from seeking the presidential nomination in 1920, the Alabama Senator was one of those early in the field in 1924.

The Ku Klux Klan, which had come to be a political issue in the country, was early attacked by Mr. Underwood. When his name was placed in nomination in Madison Square Garden, where Gov. Brandon's strident "Alabama casts 24 votes for Underwood" became his motto, there was an anti-klan demonstration lasting for more than an hour.

Vare Investigation Ended.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. — The inquiry into the primary campaign and election of Senator-elect Vare (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, extending over almost three years, was concluded last night by the Senate's Investigating Committee and a decision on the seating of Vare will be sought at this session. Vare, who now is in Florida, was unable to be present because of illness. Counsel for him entered a general denial of charges of irregularities and fraud in the 1926 election in Philadelphia.

$22,000 DAMAGE IN EARLY FIRE AT CHEMICAL PLANT

Three Alarms Turned in
for Blaze at Century Co., 213 South Main St. — Origin Undetermined.

Fire discovered at 2 a. m. today in the three-story building at 213 South Main street, occupied by the Century Chemical Co., caused $22,000 damage. The first firemen on the scene turned in second and third alarms as a precaution against the flames spreading to adjoining structures, due to high wind.

The fire was discovered by Emmett Marchal, a Negro, living at 229A South Main. The blaze started on the first floor of the building of undetermined origin. Firemen were hampered in their work by the cold and the fire smoldered for several hours. Damage to the building, which is owned by J. J. Yawitz, 744 Kingsbury place, was placed at $20,000 and the contents were damaged $200, according to Walter Holz, president of the chemical company.

Stocks of goods at the United States Seed Co., 214-16 South Main, were damaged by water and smoke.

OSCAR UNDERWOOD
PARALYSIS VICTIM

ning until the convention, firing of the Smith-McCaw row, turned to John W. Davis. Senator Underwood never became a real factor.

Born at Louisville, Ky., on May 6, 1862, the son of a lawyer, Mr. Underwood spent his early life in Minnesota. His family moved there when he was three years old, traveling up the frozen Mississippi into St. Paul on sledges. St. Paul was a military outpost and throughout Underwood's boyhood its streets were filled with Indians. Gen. Custer had his headquarters at St. Paul and for a considerable period Gen. Hancock was a next door neighbor. One of the leading citizens was Buffalo Bill. The boy thoroughly enjoyed this atmosphere and what with hunting and riding he built up a constitution which enabled him to devote long hours to work despite the ravages chronic bronchitis made on him.

His family having returned to Louisville in 1875, Underwood received his preparatory training at Rusty School. Although rather more interested in football than in his studies, Underwood finished among the first two or three in his class, then attended the University of Virginia, where he studied law. Immediately upon his graduation he settled in Minnesota, where he was admitted to the bar. Then he moved to Birmingham, Ala., where an older brother, William T. Underwood, had settled. There, Underwood devoted himself to the practice of law for 10 years before he ran for Congress.

Meanwhile he had married Miss Eugenia Massey of Charlottesville. She died in 1900, and four years later the Senator married Miss Bertha Woodward of Birmingham.

ARRESTED ON SIX CHARGES AFTER JOY RIDE IN TRUCK

Leigh Adams Accused of Hitting Four Autos, Drunken Driving and Theft of Vehicle.

Leigh Adams, 4227 Stenandah avenue, borrowed a laundry truck to take a joy ride yesterday afternoon, hit four Fords with it and ended the day in a police station with six charges against him.

Four of these are that he was driving carelessly, when he struck the Fords parked in front of 2547 South Grand boulevard. The fifth is that he was driving an automobile while intoxicated and the sixth is larceny of a motor vehicle.

BARAIN?

IS IT PRICE OR THE COM
BINATION OF AND QUALITY

Furniture is different than any you buy, because it wears long anything you can think of. Most of a home but twice in a provided the Furniture they buy, the Furniture is poorly made cheap materials, the home will be in need of new articles. A cause of the length of service it gives—good Furniture is the cheapest article on earth. Supply $200 for a bedroom Suite, and it lasts only ten years, the average year is $20, or a little more than $1.50 per month. That's the reason May, Stern & Co. sell on good Furniture. May, Stern & Co. certain that their Furniture is good that they attach a price tag to every article they sell. Look these bargains—less of price you can be sure of long service—it is genuine satisfaction. So May, Stern & Co. combine these that make a bargain—reasonable guaranteed service.

TWO TYPES OF PAVING VOTED FOR SOUTH SIDE

Board of Public Service Explains Position on Bitulithic and Sheet Asphalt.

The Board of Public Service today voted to use patented bitulithic paving for one South Side street, and to use unpaved sheet asphalt for another. At the same time, the board issued a statement setting forth its position as to the use of patented paving materials.

This action follows the attack made by the Bureau of Municipal Research on patented paving materials, which it has declared to be more costly to property owners, and no more serviceable than sheet asphalt. The bureau recently sent about 500 letters on this subject to owners of property on streets for which paving material was to be selected.

As a result of the Bureau's letter, numerous property owners attended a hearing Tuesday, held for discussion of the material to be used in five paving projects. Most of the property owners asked that sheet asphalt be specified by the Board.

This request was granted as to Allen avenue, from Nebraska avenue to Compton avenue, for which sheet asphalt was specified. The Board's preliminary estimates showed the cost of the paving with sheet asphalt as $24,250, and with bitulithic or amiesite, $25,250.

The board decided that Bates street, from Missouri Pacific tracks to Gravois avenue, should be paved with bitulithic, though a number of the property owners asked for the less costly material. The reason given for the board's decision was that bitulithic was used on another section of the same street.

The estimate of cost with bitulithic was $30,650, and with sheet asphalt $33,550.

Granite was selected as the material for paving Vandeventer avenue, between Market street and Washington boulevard, and between Brighton and Easton avenues. The sections are to cost $179,140 and $150,250, respectively. Property owners asked that asphalt be used. For another section of Vandeventer, from Ashland to a point south of Kennerly avenue, asphalt was specified. The cost to be $35,970. With bitulithic or amiesite, the same would cost $38,300.

In its statement, the Board of Public Service said it had endeavored to give property owners the best value obtainable. The board expressed its belief that the patented pavements, containing granite or trap-rock in place of limestone, are more durable. The board also says it has sought to prevent a monopoly of the paving business in St. Louis, by encouraging the various paving interests to stay apart, rather than forcing them to combine.

WOMAN KILLED IN PARACHUTE LEAP FOR MOTION PICTURE

Leta Wichart, Recently Married, Falls 2000 Feet.

NEWELL, Cal., Jan. 23.—The spectacular death of a woman parachute jumper in a 2000-foot leap from an airplane here caused a temporary halt today in the production of a motion picture thriller in which Leta Wichart, ocean diver, and Hoot Gibson, movie cowboy, were being featured.

A desperate attempt by Jim Granger, pilot of the plane from which Miss Leta Wichart, 23 years old, jumped, to nose dive under her and catch her in the cockpit of his ship failed apparently by only a few feet.

Miss Wichart was being filmed in a scene in which the heroine leaps from an airplane to escape a kidnaper. Her husband, Floyd Bowman, with Miss Elder, Gibson and others in the cast, saw the young woman plunge to her death. The victim was making her 14th parachute jump. She and Bowman, who is said to have made 800 parachute jumps, were married recently.

Motion picture executives reported that Miss Wichart had failed to pull the rip cord of her parachute, but the reason she failed to release the parachute was not definitely determined. Granger, who said Miss Wichart appeared nervous just before she leaped out of the plane, advanced the theory that she had fainted. Others thought that a scarf which was a part of her costume, had prevented her from getting hold of the ring of the rip cord.

Miss Wichart's mother, Mrs. Lulu B. Montgomery, lives in Chicago.

Work on the picture was suspended pending an inquest.

RACING MAN SLAIN BY WOMAN

Common Law Wife of William Clark of Aurora, Ill., Is Held.

JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 23.—William Clark, 59 years old, of Aurora, Ill., known in racing circles as "Sam," is held here, the victim of a bullet wound in the abdomen, and his common law wife, Pearl Clark, 46, is held by police, who said she confessed to the shooting. Clark had beaten her earlier in the day, she said.

Police are holding also Charles Harper, a friend of the Clarks, as a material witness. Mrs. Clark said she shot in self-defense when her husband became angry because she hired a taxicab Thursday to search for him. They came here Thursday to attend the funeral of Clark's mother.

STEWART DENIES
USING COERCION IN RE-ELECTION FIGHTChairman of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana Replies to Attack Made by Rockefeller's Attorney.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—A new statement reciting reasons he thinks entitle him to re-election as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana has been made public by Robert W. Stewart.

The statement reviews the progress of the company under the present organization since 1918; reiterates denials of any personal profit from the continental trading company deal, which was under Senate committee scrutiny; and answers several remarks made in a letter to stockholders by Thomas M. Debevoise, one of the attorneys of John D. Rockefeller Jr.

"I am a candidate for re-election as a director of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, and the question of my candidacy is to be determined by a vote of stockholders March 7," Stewart's statement said. "I am either entitled to re-election upon the record of my stewardship of the interests of this company for the past 10 years, or I am not."

Loyal to Interests.
"The board of directors, men who work with me daily and have for the past quarter of a century, say that I am honest and loyal to the best interests of the company. There has been a practically unanimous and spontaneous expression from the rank and file of the employees in favor of my retention as a director."

"The intimation from any source that any coercion has been used or practiced to secure this verdict from my associates is an infamous lie. No coercion has or will be used or tolerated."

"I am desirous of re-election, but to secure that re-election I have not bought a share of stock for the purpose of voting it at the coming election, nor shall I do so. Practically my entire earnings of a lifetime are invested in Standard Oil of Indiana stock, and I have no divided allegiance."

The present prosperity of the company, the statement said, "has not just happened; it is the result of loyal, earnest work and toil on the part of the entire organization."

Reviews Company's Growth.
"Mr. Debevoise says I am not the founder of the company," Col. Stewart continued, "but neither is he nor Mr. Rockefeller Jr. One thing that cannot be denied, however, is the fact that the present organization took the Indiana company in 1918, at that time worth $170,000,000, and in 10 years, without asking one cent from the stockholders, has made it into a company worth $900,000,000, during which time it paid out more than $200,000,000 in cash dividends."

"Mr. Debevoise is a fine man, and personally I like him. Obviously he is speaking for John D. Rockefeller Jr. alone, and in his absence, I am not insensible to the compliment he paid me in stating that the dividend policies of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana for the last 10 years are not objected to by Mr. Rockefeller."

"He says he sees no reason why these policies should not be continued in the future. It must be clear that before dividends are paid, earnings must be made out of which to pay them. What have Mr. Debevoise or Mr. Rockefeller Jr. to say in regard to future earnings?"

"They nor either of them has ever visited a refinery or sales station or producing property of the company, nor outside of one or two officers or directors do they know a person in the entire organization."

Repeating his previous denial of having ever made a dollar out of the Continental Trading Co. transaction, Stewart added that the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana on the other hand had "made several millions."

"These millions were partly the source from which the steady stream of cash dividends has been paid to the stockholders every quarter during recent years," the statement went on. "When I was told I was to receive some profits, I immediately refused to receive them and created a trust of them for the benefit of our companies, and those companies have them now in their possession."

STREET CAR CONDUCTOR GETS 30 DAYS FOR ROBBING ANOTHER

Clerk L. Metts, 1733 Missouri avenue, a street car conductor, was sentenced to 30 days in the Workhouse by Judge Butler in the Court of Criminal Corrections yesterday on a charge of stealing eight 25-cent pieces from another conductor, Frank Kemper, 3402 Dunlap avenue.

Kemper said he had missed coins from his money changer which he left on a shelf at the street car barns. He put marked quarters in the changer. Later, he said, he found the coins in Metts' possession.

Metts said he took the money from Kemper's money changer by mistake.

DEFENSE REBUTTAL IN HIGBEE WILL SUIT

Testimony Upholding Testament Will Take About Two Days.

Rebuttal testimony by the defense began before a jury in Circuit Judge Falkenhainer's Court today in the suit of Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer contesting the will of her aunt, Mrs. Fannie H. Higbee.

After hearing arguments of counsel in chambers in the forenoon, the Judge overruled a defense demurrer, which asserted that the will had not been proved invalid.

The defense thereupon started its rebuttal by the reading of depositions. The rebuttal will require about two days. The case for the plaintiff was completed yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Higbee left a $1,341,960 estate, the bulk of which was willed to her sister, Mrs. Louisa H. Chapman of Detroit, and the latter's children. Mrs. Pulitzer, the daughter of another sister, was bequeathed $50,000, and alleges that her aunt was of unsound mind and had been influenced unduly.

Various Peculiarities Described.

The evidence offered by the plaintiff consisted largely of a recital by relatives, friends and servants of various peculiarities on Mrs. Higbee's part, since the attack relied to a considerable extent on the showing that Benjamin G. Chapman Jr. of St. Louis, Mrs. Higbee's nephew and executor, one of her chief heirs, held a power of attorney to transact business for her and manage her property.

Mrs. Pulitzer occupied the witness stand less than an hour yesterday. She gave her opinion that Mrs. Higbee was of unsound mind, and said her aunt had frequent periods of depression and crying.

The witness' recollections on this point extending back to her girlhood. Mrs. Higbee, the plaintiff declared, was not interested in conversation about affairs of the community and world, nor the affairs of relatives, but sometimes would reply by discussing her own condition or such things as her lack of sleep.

Tells of Erratic Behavior.

Other things cited by Mrs. Pulitzer were: Mrs. Higbee wore shabby shoes and sometimes straw hats in winter, in the belief she couldn't afford better clothing; she kept the doors of her summer cottage at Gratiot Beach, Mich., locked, although the custom there in summer was not even to shut doors; she would sit on the cottage porch, disregarding the lake and frequently comparing the time of her large wrist watch and a clock.

She would be distressed when the supply of cash in her purse became low, saying, "It's not nearly the end of the month but I have little money left; I'll have to go to the Poorhouse"; visiting Mrs. Pulitzer's mother, she would remain always the same length of time and would sit at a window, watching her chauffeur, and she became upset once when the man had to move her car a short distance to make way for another; she was unsuccessful when Mrs. Pulitzer tried twice to teach her to knit; in 1924, while ill and shortly after Mrs. Pulitzer's mother had died, Mrs. Higbee told the plaintiff, "Your dear mother has been lying on the bed beside me."

Following her mother's death, Mrs. Pulitzer related, she tried to visit Mrs. Higbee at least once a week, although employed and having only every other Saturday afternoon free. On cross-examination, Mrs. Pulitzer said she thought Mrs. Higbee was of unsound mind at the time her aunt gave her $500 for her trousseau.

Detroit Man on Stand.

The first witness yesterday was Henry H. Bennett, of Detroit, Mich., whose wife, a sister of Dr. Pulitzer, died recently. He said he had noticed peculiarities in Mrs. Higbee's attire, that her only replies when he tried to converse with her were "yes" and "no"; that she had no interest in current topics, that she kept her summer cottage doors locked, that she became greatly agitated when a large Philadelphia bond house failed, thinking this would affect her investments, and that in his opinion she was of unsound mind.

Maggie Smith, a Negro, of 3509 Clark avenue, who was Mrs. Higbee's maid for 20 years, testified that Mrs. Higbee had "funny ways" and "asked me to do things over and over" that Mrs. Higbee sometimes would jerk a dust rag from her hands and laugh, that she she wanted windows cleaned while it was snowing, that she would turn the lights out while the maid was cleaning, and that she said she couldn't afford lace curtains because of the washing expense.

Dr. Mary McClain of 4233 Delmar boulevard, who knew Mrs. Higbee in connection with Y. W. C. A. work, related that Mrs. Higbee often was nervous and depressed and would ask friends to call the "Y" to pray for her. "I would not call her a woman of sound mind in the sense of a matured mind," Dr. McClain said, "rather, she had the mind of a child of 14."

On cross-examination Dr. McClain said there was nothing unusual about Y. W. C. A. women requesting prayers for each other. She said Mrs. Higbee had given the organization $5000 or $10,000 when she became interested in it and had paid the salary of its Bible teacher several years, until her death.

Further testimony about the nervousness of Mrs. Higbee was given by Mrs. Annie Higbee, 69 years old, of Webster Groves, whose husband was a brother of the testatrix's husband.

Mrs. Gerard B. Allen of 4632 Maryland avenue, a sister of Mrs. Pulitzer, testified about an estrangement between her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Edgar, and Mrs. Chapman, although the Edgar family was friendly with Mrs. Higbee. Mrs. Allen also told of her aunt's nervousness, saying that sometimes she would not know why she was crying. About 1921, the witness went on, she asked Mrs. Higbee to contribute to the Children's Hospital and was offered $25—"all she could afford"—but the next day Mrs. Higbee sent her a $500 check for the hospital, saying that was what Chapman had told her she would give. Chapman signed the check. It was brought out on cross-examination that when Mrs. Allen saw Mrs. Higbee, it generally was when the latter called on Mrs. Edgar.

MARRIAGE TO SILENCE GOSSIP ENDS IN DIVORCE FOR HUSBAND
Louis Olm Says Pair Decided to Wed After Neighbors Talked About His Housekeeper.

A marriage to "keep people from talking" ended in divorce yesterday when Circuit Judge Taylor granted a divorce to Louis Olm, 53 years old, a tinner, 714 Wilmington road, from Lena Olm, 26, 2218 Hickory street. Mrs. Olm did not contest the suit.
Old testified that he had met his wife when she advertised for a position as housekeeper, and that they were married Jan. 11, 1928, a month after she entered his employ. They agreed at that time that marriage would silence the gossip of neighbors.
They separated, he said, last October, because she refused to

CHILD'S COLD MAY BE FLU

Careful Mothers Take No Chances

Five hours is too long for a child to have a cough or cold without taking steps to stop it. The sooner you start with GLESSCO, the quicker the cold will go.
Break a child's cold with GLESSCO and you know that's one cold that won't develop into flu! Even doctors and trained nurses cannot distinguish the start of flu from a bad cold. So don't take chances. Treat every cold, quick, especially at this season of the year. Remember that GLESSCO, taken in time, will improve a cough in fifteen minutes and break a cold almost over night. And without the use of opiates!

DON'T CATCH THE FLU!

Break a Cold the First Day

Any doctor or nurse will tell you that if you break a cold the first day you are unlikely to contract pneumonia or influenza. So don't let a cold hang on. At the first cough or symptom of a cold or sore throat start with Turpo and break it right up. Rubbed on the chest or throat Turpo relieves congestion, loosens phlegm. Instantly you will feel the improvement.

As a preventive against flu, sniff a little Turpo up each nostril several times a day and the germs will have little chance of getting a lodging or breeding place.

Turpo is an effective antiseptic combining the old-fashioned remedies of turpentine, camphor and menthol. Any doctor or trained nurse will tell you that these ingredients have long been recognized as effective antiseptics as well as having really wonderful qualities in relieving colds or congestions. Turpo costs only 35 cents at any drug store.

Acid in Stomach Sours the Food

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion.

A well known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflame the stomach, and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and, furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.

PUBLIC HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATING EXERCISES

Four Girls and Two Boys Winners of Washington U. Scholarships.

St. Louis public high schools this week are graduating 848 students who have completed their courses in the mid-year. Six four-year scholarships to Washington University are being awarded, four to girl graduates, and two to boys. The scholarships, valued at $1000 each, are granted on the basis of scholarship and general excellence.

Miss Mary Brown Reinhard, daughter of H. H. Reinhard, 5884 Cates avenue, won the scholarship at Soldan High School which was awarded at graduation exercises for 150 students of the school yesterday.

Miss Evelyn Koenig, 17-year-old daughter of Edward R. Koenig, 4022 Junata street, will receive a scholarship at the exercises at Roosevelt High School tonight. The Roosevelt graduating class numbers 152.

Two scholarships to Washington University were awarded to graduates of Cleveland High School last night. One, the gift of G. A. Ender, went to Melvin Hurni, 17, son of W. H. Hurni of 5232 Nottingham avenue. The other, offered by the University, was awarded to Tempie Hazel Hoagland, 17-year-old daughter of Walter H. Hoagland, 5419 Murdock avenue. Cleveland graduated 154 students.

The scholarship for graduates of Central High School, where 108 students were graduated last night, went to Neil Koop, 18-year-old son of Clarence Koop of 4479A St. Louis avenue.

Louise Maysack, 15 years old, daughter of Louis W. Maysack of 4344 Fair avenue, won the scholarship offered to graduates of Beaumont High School. Diplomas were awarded to 137 students there today.

Sumner High School, for Negroes, graduated 84 students early this week. Vashon, the other Negro high school, gave diplomas to 20 last night.

Harris Teachers' College graduation exercises were held last night at Soldan High School. Diplomas were awarded to 29 students.

Elementary schools throughout the city finish their mid-year terms this week and are graduating 2077 pupils.

INCREASE IN TARIFF ON CORN TO 30 CTS. A BUSHEL URGED

J. W. Shorthill of Omaha Appeals Before House Committee: Present Duty 15 Cents.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—An increase to 30 cents a bushel in the present duty of 15 cents a bushel on corn was urged before the House Ways and Means Committee today by J. W. Shorthill of Omaha, Neb., secretary of the Farmers' National Grain Dealers' Association.

Knox Boude of Sebastopol, Cal., representing the National Poultry Council, urged an increase of 10 cents a pound in the existing duty of 3 cents on live poultry and 10 cents on dead poultry as compared with the present rate of 6 cents. Other rates proposed were: Eggs in shell, 10 cents a dozen as against the present 8 cents; frozen eggs, 12 cents a pound against 6; dried yolks, 30 cents against 1; dried albumen, 60 cents against 15; baby chicks, 4 cents each, a new duty, and live poultry imported for breeding purposes $2 each, also a new rate.

Representative Ludolph (Dem.), Texas, advocated a duty of 6 cents a pound on canned meats as compared with the present 20 per cent ad valorem rate, which he said was equivalent to 2 cents a pound. He also urged a duty of 8 cents a pound on dry hides and 6 cents on green hides, both now on the free list.

WIFE OF EX-SENATOR FRANCE SEEKING U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Special Hearing Granted Woman Who Was Born in Russia; Pair Married in 1927.

By the Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Jan. 25.—A special naturalization hearing in United States District Court was held yesterday to give a certificate of American citizenship to Mrs. Tatiana V. France, 23 years old, wife of Dr. Joseph I. France, former United States Senator.

Mrs. France, who renounced allegiance to Russia in applying for American citizenship, stated in her petition she was born in Moscow, Dec. 6, 1905, and married Dr. France at Paris, July 13, 1927. Judge William C. Coleman explained the special hearing was granted because the required time after filing her application lacked only a few days of elapsing when naturalization cases were heard in his court Monday.

$40,000,000 WILL IS FILED

Mrs. Margaret Smith McCarthy Leaves $2,000,000 to Infant Son.

By the Associated Press. GREENWICH, Conn., Jan. 25.—The will of Mrs. Margaret Huntington Smith McCarthy, filed here yesterday, disposes of an estate understood to be more than $40,000,000. Mrs. McCarthy was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Perry Smith of Cleveland, O., and inherited their estates. A bequest of $2,000,000 is made to her 2-year-old son, James, and $200,000 is left to her daughter, by a former marriage, Margaret Smith. A Cleveland hospital gets $100,000. The rest of the estate goes to her husband, Dr. James S. McCarthy.

POLICEMAN DIRECTING TRAFFIC HIT BY AUTO

Patrolman Paluczak, Struck at Delmar and Skinker, Suffers Fracture of Leg.

Traffic Policeman Robert Paluczak, 4935 Kennerly avenue, suffered a fractured left leg at 5 p. m. yesterday when struck by an automobile while directing traffic at Delmar boulevard and Skinker road.

Paluczak was struck by a machine driven by Lawrence Denoyer, 35 North Eighteenth street, to whom he had given a signal for a left turn. Denoyer said his vision was obscured by rain on the windshield.

Dr. Alexander E. Block, 6323 Kingsbury place, University City, and his daughter, Alene, 3 years old, are at St. Mary's Hospital with injuries suffered late yesterday afternoon, when they are believed to have been struck by an automobile, the driver of which fled, while crossing Washington avenue at Adelaide avenue.

Dr. Block and his daughter were found unconscious in the street by two students, who summoned police. Both the physician and his daughter had suffered concussion of the brain and he had a fracture of the right thigh. Upon being revived neither could remember what had occurred to cause their injuries. No witnesses were found.

HAYES, ACQUITTED OF LONGO

KILLING, FACES SECOND TRIAL

Tommy Hayes, Cuckoo gangster, who was acquitted yesterday of the murder of Mike Longo, Italian gunman, will be tried March 25 for the murder of James Russo, who was killed with Longo last July 25. Charles Noble, assistant prosecuting attorney of St. Louis County, who handled the prosecution concluded in Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday, announced he would go through with the prosecution of the other case.

Hayes was released on a $20,000 bond returnable in March. The bond was granted by Circuit Judge Nolte, when Defense Attorney A. E. L. Gardner pointed out to him that Hayes had been held since October, and that the evidence in the Russo case will not differ from that presented at the Longo trial.

The jury yesterday required less than 20 minutes to decide that Hayes was not guilty, taking only one ballot.

Amity Asks for Old Clothes. A plea for overcoats and old clothing for homeless old men has been made by Joshua P. Solven, director of Amity Hall, 918 Morgan street. Solven said the cold weather has brought more than 500 men nightly to get free food, lodging or clothing.

OPPOSES PUTTING BROADCASTING IN UTILITIES CLASS

Head of National Company Says This Would Compel Stations to Give Service to Any Applicant.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Opposition to the view that radio broadcasting should be classified either through legislation or by judicial decision as a public utility was voiced yesterday by M. H. Aylesworth of New York, president of the National Broadcasting Co., before the House Merchant Marine Committee, at a hearing on a bill to continue the existence of the Federal Radio Commission for a year.

Aylesworth said that, should such a thing happen, radio stations would be compelled to give their services to any applicant who paid for time on the air.

"He declared that, unlike newspapers and magazines, which could add pages to accommodate additional advertising, the radio industry has but 16 hours a day for broadcasting and the facilities were limited. It would be impossible to accommodate all those who wished to use the air for broadcasting purposes," he added.

Injured by Reallocation.
Aylesworth said the National Broadcasting Co. was hurt by the application of the Davis amendment to the radio act last spring, which resulted in the reallocation of wave lengths and channels by the Federal Radio Commission on Nov. 11. The amendment proposed the equal distribution of radio broadcasting facilities into five geographical zones in the United States.

Aylesworth said that he believed the allocations of Nov. 11 were made without regard to what had been done by various stations to develop radio in the pioneer states, and expressed the belief that "things would work themselves out, however, because the people were going to get what they want in radio eventually." He added the commission did the best it could, but that its action were not satisfactory to him.

He declared that he favors regulation of the industry, but not as a public utility.

The hearing opened with the testimony of Arthur E. Goss, of Brooklyn, N. Y., representing the People's Pulpit Association and the International Bible Students' Association, who charged the National Broadcasting Co. had discriminated against the association by preventing J. P. Rutherford of San Diego, Cal., from making a second speech over its network of 55 broadcasting stations.

Aylesworth said the reason he did not permit Rutherford to make a second speech was because in the first address Rutherford had "made a vicious attack on organized church and clergy" and had described the organized clergy as "apostles of the devil."

"I cannot and will not take that type of program on our stations," Aylesworth said.

Advisory Council.
An advisory council composed of prominent men and women decides upon the National Broadcasting Co.'s commercial and entertainment programs, Aylesworth added.

A protest of the Ohio State Broadcasters' Association against the allocations made to stations in Ohio by the commission was admitted to the record. The protest claimed Ohio was entitled, according to population, to an additional 15 per cent in broadcasting facilities.

Aylesworth testified that the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Co. and the Westinghouse Electric Co., competitors in the radio industry, each held a third interest in the National Broadcasting Co.

Three broadcasting stations are owned by the National, Aylesworth said, which serve about 55 privately owned and controlled stations through a policy similar to that of the Associated Press toward newspapers.

He testified that during the first year, his company lost $500,000 in its work, but that commercial organizations were enthusiastic over national indirect advertising by radio and were sponsoring good programs.

Aylesworth said that no contracts existed between his company and the stations it served. He added that 150 other stations had made application for their programs, but his company had been unable to accommodate them.

The great demand for the National Broadcasting Co.'s programs, he continued, was brought about when the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the General Electric Co., the Radio Corporation and other radio concerns became tired of broadcasting. The company was organized, however, he said, so that programs could be offered people so that they would continue to buy radio sets.

During the political campaigns, Aylesworth said, his company was careful to give equal time as near as possible to the candidates, and each party had paid about $300,000 for broadcasting services.

He suggested that for one day a week for a 15-minute period the debates of Congress be broadcast.

The Transportation Survey Commission at a meeting yesterday afternoon approved in principle
three items of proposed legislation necessary for the implementation and operation of a new rapid transit system in St.
Louis. Two require amendments to the constitution and the amendment to the statute.

The commission also voted to issue bonds for as long as years for the purpose of buying constructing or otherwise acquiring a public utility.

An amendment to the constitution giving the city authority to condemn for the purpose of a public improvement such property in addition to the amount actually required for the improvement as the court have jurisdiction may find to be required to carry out the general plan of the project or to reduce the consequent damages and the cost of the project, and the right to a such property.

An amendment to the Statute providing for the issuance of "terminable permits" by the Public Service Commission
city and suburban transportation systems, the cities affected having the right to make their consent to such permit a prerequisite to its issuance.

City Counselor Muench was charged to redraft these propositions to incorporate changes in wording adopted by the commission
submitted them to another meeting
of the commission next Wednesday
afternoon for final approval.

Terminable Permits Proposed.
Another legislative bill already approved by the commission was to incorporate changes in wording adopted by the commission
submitted them to another meeting
of the commission next Wednesday
afternoon for final approval.

The terminable permit provision is in lieu of the usual franchise
for a term of years and any company, to obtain such permit, would first have to surrender any frach-ise, license or other permit it might hold.

As a condition to its commission would have authority to grant the operating company enter into a contract with it giving the compensation to be paid
the city and the division of receipts of the company.

The permit would be for an indefinite time and would continue in force until terminated by option of law or revoked by the Public Service Commission for cause.

City Purchasing Clause.
Causes named for revocation
the permit include purchase of property by the city, finding the commission that public convenience and necessity no longer require operation of the property or finding by the commission
the company has failed to obey lawful orders.

The act would give the city authority to purchase in whole or part any such transportation system, either by agreement with owner or by order of the Public Service Commission in case the owner could not not agree upon terms and price, the commission in the latter case to fix terms and price.

The commission hopes to be able to approve the final form of the proposed acts at its next meeting and immediately thereafter have them introduced in the Legislature. Their early enactment will be sought.

The plan of procedure for transportation survey from point on, as recommended by the survey and approved by the commission, is based on the following fundamental principles:

Unification of all urban transit facilities.
Adoption of terminable permit
form of franchise.
Planning of rapid trans-structures by proper division
the cost between the public

TRANSPORTATION GROUP OK'S BILLS FOR RAPID TRANSIT

Survey Commission Accepts in Principal Two Amendments to Constitution and Change in Statute.

APPROVES FIRST REPORT OF ENGINEER

He Recommends Unification of All Urban Carrying Facilities as First Step in City Program.

The Transportation Survey Commission at a meeting yesterday afternoon approved in principle the first of proposed legislation considered necessary for the construction and operation of a modern rapid transit system in St. Louis. Two required amendments to the constitution and the other an amendment to the statutes.

The commission also voted approval in full of the preliminary report submitted to it last month by Ralph H. Kelker Jr., of Chicago, its engineer, outlining the principles and procedure to be followed in drawing up recommendations for a comprehensive rapid transit system for the city.

The proposed legislative acts approved are, in brief:

An amendment to the constitution giving the city authority to issue bonds for as long as 50 years for the purpose of buying, constructing or otherwise acquiring a public utility.

An amendment to the constitution giving the city authority to condemn for the purpose of a public improvement such property in addition to the amount actually required for the improvement as the court having jurisdiction may find to be reasonably required to carry out the general plan of the project, to reduce the consequential damages and the cost of the project, and the right to sell such property.

An amendment to the State law providing for the issuance of "terminal permits" by the Public Service Commission to city and suburban transportation systems, the cities affected having the right to make their consent to such permit a prerequisite for issuance.

City Councilman Muench was authorized to redraft these proposals to incorporate changes in wording adopted by the commission and submit them to another meeting of the commission next Wednesday afternoon for final approval.

Terminal Permits Proposed.
Another legislative bill already approved by the commission would give the city authority to build, buy, condemn or otherwise acquire, operate or lease, or permit to be operated, any rapid transit improvement and to pay for it in part by assessment against property in a benefited district.

The terminal permit provided for is in lieu of the usual franchise for a term of years and any company, to obtain such permit, would first have to surrender any franchise, license or other permit that it might hold.

As a condition to its consent to the granting of such permit the city would have authority to require the operating company to enter into a contract with it fixing the compensation to be paid the city and the division of the receipts of the company.

The permit would be for an indefinite time and would continue in force until terminated by operation of law or revoked by the Public Service Commission for cause.

City Purchasing Clause.
Cases named for revocation of the permit include purchase of the property by the city, finding by the commission that public convenience and necessity no longer require operation of the property, or finding by the commission that the company has failed to obey its legal orders.

The act would give the city authority to purchase in whole or in part any such transportation system, either by agreement with the owner or by order of the Public Service Commission in case the city and the owner could not agree on terms and price, the commission in the latter case to fix the terms and price.

The commission hopes to be able to approve the final form of these proposed acts at its next meeting and immediately thereafter have them introduced in the Legislature.

Their early enactment will be sought.

The plan of procedure for the transportation survey from this point on, as recommended by Kelker and approved by the commission, is based on the following fundamental principles:

Unification of all urban carrying facilities.

Adoption of terminal permit form of franchise.

Financing of rapid transit structures by proper division of the cost between the public at

Jackson Johnson Claimed Only $5000 Year to Head World's Largest Shoe Firm

Policy Was Officers Should Get Their Income •From Dividends—He Held Stock in International Worth $5,822,000.

SERVING as president, and later board chairman, of the International Shoe Co., largest shoe manufacturing firm in the world, the late Jackson Johnson received a salary of $5000 a year. Many minor executives of comparable small firms draw a larger monthly pay check than did Mr. Johnson as head of a business with $124,000,000 annual net sales.

This salary, it was learned today, was a matter of policy with Mr. Johnson and the associates who formed the Roberts, Johnson & Rand Shoe Co. in 1898, and the International Shoe Co. in 1911.

The rule still prevailing in the International organization fixes $5000 as the highest salary an officer can receive. The rest of his income he must make from the profits of the business, in which he is presumed to be a substantial stockholder. As told yesterday, Mr. Johnson owned 82,000 shares of the company's common stock, worth $5,822,000 at the present market price of $71 a share, and some 4000 employees of the company own stock. By a policy of the company, fostered by Mr. Johnson, the employees have been encouraged and in many cases assisted to become stockholders.

Mr. Johnson, who died of heart disease at the age of 69 Wednesday at his winter home in Florida, and whose funeral will be held here Monday afternoon, was the last survivor of a group of men who were pioneers in building up the present St. Louis shoe market, and making this city the largest shoe manufacturing center of the United States.

Mr. Johnson's Associates.
His early associates who, with his brother, Oscar Johnson, who died in 1916, and his cousin, Edgar Rand, who died in 1907, at the age of 27. Next in connection with the business was John C. Roberts, with whom the Johnsons and Rand became associated after they removed to St. Louis from Memphis. Mr. Roberts died in 1924.

Henry W. Peters and Frederick W. Peters, cousins, both of whom died last year, were also among the founding fathers of the St. Louis shoe trade. They built up the Peters Shoe Co., which merged with Roberts, Johnson & Rand to form the International.

Other notable pioneers of the trade, competitors of the International group, and of each other, were Alanson D. Brown, head of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., who died in 1913, and his brother, George Warren Brown, head of the Brown Shoe Co., who died in 1921.

Frank C. Rand, who succeeded Mr. Johnson as president of the International, considers himself one of the second generation. He is a cousin of Mr. Johnson, and a younger brother of Edgar C. Rand, but his position with Roberts, Johnson & Rand at the firm's inception was a minor one.

Yellow Fever Caused Move.
Yellow fever caused the Johnson brothers and Edgar Rand to remove from Memphis to St. Louis in 1897. They had built up what they considered a good shoe jobbing business under the name of Johnson, Caruthers & Rand. But in 1897 the return of yellow fever had scourged the South a few years before, paralyzed business in Memphis. Medical and sanitary science had not then conquered the disease, and when Edgar Rand came to St. Louis he came as one of many refugees. While here he looked over the possibilities of the shoe business in the rapidly growing southwestern market, while New England had the facilities and the experience in manufacture. It was the belief of Mr. Johnson, and of other St. Louis shoe men, that St. Louis could learn to make shoes more easily than New England could learn to sell shoes. The correctness of this theory was progressively proven, as St. Louis passed one after another of the Eastern shoe-making centers, Lynn, Fall River, Haverhill and Brockton.

Believed in Fixed Policies.
Mr. Johnson was a believer in fixed policies on the part of a business concern. He and his partners built up their business on the basis of good values, durable goods, fixed prices and unvarying credit terms. It was Mr. Johnson's idea that a shoe look as well as possible, but should be better than it looks. He knew, from his experience as a small-town storekeeper in Mississippi, that goods of this sort build business.

Lifelong good health, in the opinion of his associates, was a large factor in Mr. Johnson's business success. So far as is recalled, he was never ill until his heart became impaired within the past year. He was not a health faddist, but simply had such good health that he did not have to think about it. When the International was formed in 1911, he talked of giving up golf in order to devote himself more completely to business, but friends persuaded him to return to the game. In recent years finding his card no longer satisfactory, he became an infrequent player.

Mr. Johnson's body will arrive at Union Station at 7:17 a. m. tomorrow, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, who was with Mr. Johnson in Florida, and his two sons-in-law, who went south last night to meet the special car carrying the body. The funeral at 2:30 p. m. Monday will be at the home, 255 Portland place, and will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. John W. MacVicar, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church. Burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery will be private.

The offices of the International Shoe Co., 1565 Washington avenue, will close at noon Monday.

Would Bring New Plants.
A statement issued by George C. Smith, director of the Industrial Bureau of the University of Illinois, said today he would be glad to see the source of fuel would be of great advantage to industries in the St. Louis district and that several concerns had indicated their intention to establish new plants here if and when the new fuel is available.

Reduction of smoke from industrial plants using natural gas would be another great advantage, Smith said. He also called attention to the fact that the availability of natural gas had helped greatly in development of the steel industry in the Pittsburgh district and he believed it would promote that industry here. These advantages would come from the substitution of gas for coal and if developed to any great extent would mean a sharp curtailment of coal used from the nearby Illinois fields.

Organization of a natural gas distributing company here known as the St. Louis Industrial Gas Co. has been under way for some time by a group headed by W. L. Gourley, a gas appliance jobber. Gourley said today he would be glad to see his associates in New York next week to decide whether or not to proceed with their company. It is not their intention to bring natural gas into the city, but merely to distribute it.

Bolivia Names Conciliators.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Bolivian Government has advised its legation here of the appointment of its two members on the Conciliation Commission of the Pan-American Conference constituted to reconcile Bolivia and Paraguay on their frontier controversy. The two appointees are David Alvestigui and Hugo Sinot. Alvestigui is a former Bolivian Minister to Paraguay and now advisor to the Foreign Office. Sinot is Minister of Bolivia in Chile and member of Parliament for the district of Santa Cruz.

son of the late Jackson Johnson, was injured in an automobile collision at Lawton boulevard and Leffingwell avenue last night. He was on his way to Union Station with his brothers-in-law, Bradford Shinkle and Russell Forgan. All had planned to go south to meet the special car in which the body of Jackson Johnson was being brought to St. Louis from Florida. Johnson was thrown against a broken windshield and his nose and forehead were cut. He remained in St. Louis, by a physician's advice, while the others proceeded on their journey.

NATURAL GAS LINE FOR CITY BY END OF 1929 PROMISED

Mississippi River Fuel Corporation Estimates Cost of Pipe Line to Louisiana
at $30,000,000.

LARGE INDUSTRIES ONLY TO BENEFIT

Christy Payne, President of Organization Says Survey of 450-Mile Route
Has Been Made.

The Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, organized by several large gas, power and oil corporations which for some time have been planning to pipe natural gas from Louisiana to St. Louis, announced today that its plans have progressed to the point that it expects to have natural gas available for industries in this district before the end of the year.

The plans include construction of a 22-inch pipe line from Monroe, La., to St. Louis, a distance of about 450 miles, at a cost of approximately $30,000,000. According to Christy Payne of Pittsburgh, president of the Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, surveys have been made for this line. Payne said the proposed system would have a capacity of 100,000,000 cubic feet a day, and it was proposed to supply the gas only to large industrial users.

He said the company would not apply for a franchise, but only for rights-of-way to cross streets or run its lines along streets where necessary to reach industrial sites.

Companies Backing Line.
The companies which Payne said are backing the pipe line enterprise are the Electric Light and Power Corporation, Columbian Carbon Co., Standard Oil Company, United Carbon Co., Moody-Segars Co. and Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

The gas fields are known as the Monroe and Richland districts and are claimed by Payne to constitute the largest known reservoirs of natural gas.

Natural gas from these fields is said to have a heat rating of 1000 B. t. u. (British thermal units) as compared with about 600 for most manufactured gas, and to be especially desirable as fuel in the manufacture of steel, glass, ceramics and cement and for use in packing plants and oil refineries.

Director of Streets Brookes, who proposed the one-way traffic bill, agreed to the 90-day experiment, providing Pine Street is included in the plan. The Aldermanic Committee is expected to adopt the compromise.

Director Brooks suggested that the levee be used for parking of cars and that the downtown stores or the city furnish bus transportation to and from the levee.

Alderman Neil advocated fines of $10 or $25 for parking law violations and made this comment: "The trouble is when a person is arrested he gets a politician to take care of it in Police Court, especially at this time when the election is approaching and anyone can get fixed up that sees the right people."

Stanley Goldman, representing Goldman Bros. Furniture Co., read a letter protesting against prohibition of parking on Olive street as detrimental to the firm's business. Joseph T. Davis, president of the Safety Council, and Richard W. Neade, president of the People's Motorbus Co., advocated restriction of parking to promote safety and facilitate the movement of traffic.

COMPROMISE PLAN ON DOWNTOWN TRAFFIC

Tentative Agreement on Trial of Olive-Locust-Washington Parking Bar.

A compromise plan for reduction of traffic congestion in the downtown district was tentatively agreed upon at a public hearing yesterday before the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

Measures providing for one-way traffic only on Olive and Locust streets and prohibiting parking from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. on the principal downtown streets would be shelved, under the compromise scheme, in favor of a 90-day trial of no-parking on Olive, Locust and Washington avenues, between Fourth street and Twelfth boulevard, from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m.

C. E. Williams, a director of the Associated Retailers, submitted the compromise, saying 65 downtown merchants represented in the association wished to co-operate with the authorities in solving traffic problems. He said the merchants would check their business during the 90-day period and upon the results would base their future approval or disapproval of the plan.

Director of Streets Brookes, who proposed the one-way traffic bill, agreed to the 90-day experiment, providing Pine Street is included in the plan. The Aldermanic Committee is expected to adopt the compromise.

Director Brooks suggested that the levee be used for parking of cars and that the downtown stores or the city furnish bus transportation to and from the levee.

Insulation Against Gravity Suggested by Eistein Theory

Physicist at New York U. Sets Forth Possibilities That May Result From New Idea on Electricity.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The most fascinating field of experiment that could be opened to man lies behind Einstein's new theory that electricity and magnetism are related to gravitation, says Dr. H. H. Sheldon, head of the department of physics of New York University.

"Such things," said Dr. Sheldon, "as keeping airplanes aloft without engines or material support, as stepping out of a window into the air without fear of falling, or of making a trip to the moon, as far as hindrance of gravitation is concerned, are avenues of investigation suggested by this theory."

"For it gives us the one link that has been missing in our theories of relations of electricity, heat, energy, light, space, time, gravitation and matter."

"If it stands up as a proof that electricity and gravitation are virtually the same, we can attempt at last to insulate ourselves from the force of gravitation. We know how to insulate ourselves against electrical currents, and perhaps as we learn more, the day will come when it is no more unbelievable that we can insulate ourselves against gravitation, than against the equally intangible effects of electricity."

"On my desk is a striking illustration of the possibilities. It is a bar of permalloy, an alloy recently produced in the Bell Telephone laboratories here, and its new property is unusual sensitivity to magnetism. I place it above another magnet. See, it remains suspended seemingly by air alone, an inch above the magnet on my desk. Thus far this force of magnetism is the only means we have found experimentally of balancing the force of gravitation."

"Now Einstein comes with a mathematical law which shows a relation between magnetism and gravitation, that we were not sure about heretofore, and gives us a new theoretical tool with which to work."

"It sounds incredible to speak of insulating ourselves from gravitation, yet the idea is perhaps not much more incredible than were those in some of the previous steps that one by one have linked together the tangible things such as iron bars, to the intangibles such as electricity and force, and upon which all our useful inventions are built."

"The first step was realization that light and heat are related. That came early in the history of mankind. The others all are recent. As the second step Jules and Ruyfford showed that heat and energy (energy being another word for work) are related definitely by physical laws. That idea was almost wholly incredible for a time, though now all our engines are based upon that law."

"One by one were shown the inter-relationships of light, heat, energy, matter, space, time, gravitation and electricity, until the only factor missing was specific relation between electricity and gravitation. This is what Einstein has given us."

Italy to Build Nine War Vessels.

ROME, Jan. 25.—There are to be no bears hereafter on the Italian stock exchanges, at least as far as securities issued by the State are concerned, the Fascist government has decreed.

All bearish activities are to be suppressed henceforth by Government regulations controlling the brokers and their customers in a manner unknown in the United States or in stock markets anywhere else in the world.

Violation of the principle that there must be no attacks upon Government stocks will result in jail sentences for offenders, whether they are speculators or holders of seats on the Italian bourses.

Sentence was pronounced Wednesday night by the Rome courts against four men convicted of being bears on a Government stock. The punishment handed out to them only partly satisfied the Fascist press. With significant unity the newspapers of Rome editorially stress their conviction that only by so regulating the bourses that none but real and tried Fascists can conduct the brokerage business in them can Italy combat defeatist campaigns.

Fascists to Police Bourses.
Meanwhile the bourses are to be policed by a special Fascist militia made up of men fully conversant with the machinery of the bourse, capable of understanding the significance of every transaction and empowered to arrest any individual who attempts to force down a Government stock.

It is not only Government securities that are to be protected from the assaults of bears, but also industrial stocks which they may attempt to force down.

As an aid to complete governmental control of stock market operations every broker in Italy is required to hand in daily a complete list of all his dealings, accompanied by the names and addresses of his customers.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight denunciations of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to speak, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Complaints of Cotton Exchange Rules.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE rules of delivery, where one buys a contract for the future delivery of cotton on the New York and other cotton exchanges throughout the country, are just as rotten and unfair to the farmer and the buyers of cotton as it is possible to make them. Listen to this:

1. If one dare buy a contract on these exchanges for future delivery of cotton and stands for the delivery of the cotton, he will find himself in possession of 15 different grades of low, uneven loquid, spotted junk stuff that no spinner could use in so many different grades and lengths of staple, and would have only one thing that he could do to relieve himself of this motley stuff. That would be to get someone of the co-operative crowd who made the tender of the cotton to please take it back and use it perpetually for the purpose for which it is intended, to-wit: To deliver it over and over again on contract daily, monthly and annually, gentlemen, and let me out of the game.

2. This crowd of New Yorkers have recently adopted a rule whereby they can buy up cotton throughout the country, and (whether intended to be used against traders or not) class it out pretentiously under Government requirements and make a big showing of much cotton being made ready for delivery on contracts, thereby bulldozing and camouflaging the intention of all this junk-pile stuff over the country, for the sole purpose of depressing the price of cotton, to the great injury of the Southern cotton growers of America. By permitting this widespread delivery over the country, if one buys cotton he will find that his cotton will be tendered him at every little old contracting place throughout the country, where great expense will be incurred to get it, at these wide-apart delivery points. No more rotten rules could possibly be invented.

3. Make this crowd come clean, and deliver in even running 100-bale lots of grades and lengths of staple, so that the spinner can use this cotton, or padlock this New York Cotton Exchange, where the price of cotton throughout the world is fixed by a certain crowd. Padlock 'em, or make 'em come to town and deal fair and square.

Horned Toads Languish in Captivity.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

OF THE score or more horned toads presented to and purchased by the Reptile House at the Zoo in the last year, only two or three of the most recent arrivals are alive. A person acquainted with the story of Rip asked about the high mortality rate, and was told by an employee, "Well, you see, they won't feed to captivity, for some reason, and so they all died of starvation in about three months."

Fined for Selling Malt Extract.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SEVERAL chain stores in Kentucky have been fined for selling malt extract, but upon what basis? Didn't these same stores sell sugar, yeast, prunes, figs, raisins, grapes and many other articles that can be used in the making of alcoholic beverages? What about the many stores that sell cellophane, Regg, bottles, caps, sewing machines and syphon hose? Aren't they just as guilty?

We all know well enough that malt extract enters into the making of home brew, but it is worthless without sugar, yeast, salt, etc. The maker must have a crock to brew it in, bottles, syphon hose and caps. What about those who sell grapes? Don't they make wine? What about the farmer who sells his corn?

Imagine the prosecution of a few merchants for selling malt extract. Why is it that these few concerns were singled out and made the focus of one wonders if the enforcement of prohibition expects to accomplish anything by such methods. There is an old adage, a slang expression: "Give the bull enough rope and he will hang himself." I dare say that such methods are simply exposing the fatuity of the prohibition law and destroying public confidence. It is only one of the increasing number of demonstrations that are constantly taking place and proving the fatuity of the law's meddling with people's private rights.

How to Stop Them.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I N an editorial you say: "Stop the utility pirates!" There is only one way to stop their insatiable, inhuman greed, and that is to take the people's public utilities and necessities out of their clutches and give us municipal ownership like other progressive cities.

LEGION.

Prague Teachers' Chorus.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I AM glad that St. Louis is going to hear the Prague Teachers' Chorus on the thirty-first. I heard them in Czechoslovakia and without exaggeration they gave the finest choral concert I have ever heard. The voices are like the instruments in a symphony orchestra, each one sure and individual and yet all combining into a perfect whole. All this without instrumental accompaniment, hope every music lover in St. Louis will hear them. They were a sensation in London and the press notices from there show that they have even astonished that most blasé of all our cities.

ELISE AHELE.

FIFTY MILES A YEAR.

St. Louis ought to pave 50 miles of streets a year, according to Director Brooks of the Streets and Sewers Department. The city has 1017 miles of streets, of which 596 are hard-paved, 206 soft-paved, meaning macadam or similar surfacing, and 215 miles unpaved. The average life of hard pavement is 20 years. From this premise Mr. Brooks deduces the 50-miles a year quota.

Accepting the conclusion as correct, it is manifestly imperative that the business of paving—that is, the drawing up of specifications and the letting of contracts—should be managed with the utmost vigilance and economy.

The management of this business is in the hands of the Board of Public Service. Whether it is being managed as circumstances strictly require is a fair question. The judgment of the Bureau of Municipal Research is adverse. The bureau's exception to the board's policy of specifying a patented paving material in practically 50 per cent of the paving contracts let last year has already been commented on. It is a matter of record that this particular patented product—Willite—has been designated in the board's specifications for a number of years.

What is the superiority of the patented Willite over the nonpatented sheet asphalt, for example? The Bureau of Municipal Research says there is no superiority. It says that the patented product does not last any longer and that the cost of upkeep is about the same. But there is a great difference in price. Willite costing 50 per cent more than sheet asphalt.

Another witness has given similar testimony. In April, 1924, when paving contracts on five streets—Botanical, Castleman, Cleveland, Flad and Loughborough—were under consideration, and the specifications called for Willite, the president of the Trinity Asphalt Manufacturing Co., Shelby L. Heman, insisted that this specification was unreasonable and that if his product were used he could save the taxpayers $100,000 on that job. He also said that the United States Department of Agriculture had analyzed the Willite product and found it possessed no advantage over sheet asphalt. Mr. Heman went further. He charged collusion between the Willite people and a contracting company by which the contracting company procured the Willite product at a special price and was thus enabled to underbid competing contractors.

Then there is the decision of Federal Judge Faris on July 3, 1925, in dismissing the injunction of the Western Willite Co. against the Trinity Asphalt Co., in which the court held that the process of making the Willite compound is not patentable. The Willite formula was shown to be a mixture of asphalt and copper sulphate which makers of paving material had been using for 40 years.

Certainly, if St. Louis is to maintain the 50-miles-a-year paving program which Director Brooks says is necessary, there can be no place for favoritism either as to material or contractor. Nobody wants inferior paving. But no citizen should be required to pay an excessive price for Willite, Warrenite, Amiesite, or any other patented "ite."

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT STUPIDITY.

Three reputable St. Louis business men, Frank, Leo and George Busmann, were arrested by Federal prohibition agents and stand jointly charged with the possession of 10 ounces of alcohol in violation of the Volstead act in one of their manufacturing plants at 2350 W. Sullivan avenue.

A disgruntled employee "tipped" the agents that the Busmanns were engaged in "aging" moonshine liquor by mechanical process in the plant. The agents visited the plant and said they saw a barrel of liquor being churned about in a sort of concrete mixer, and on this evidence obtained a warrant to search the place, probably with the thought in mind of stopping the liquor traffic at its source.

With only 10 ounces of alcohol as evidence the agents have no case against any of the three brothers. There was no occasion for their arrests. Had they found the barrel they sought only one of the three could have been guilty of the possession and the maximum punishment for the offense would have been a fine of $500.

On the other hand, if the prohibition department was convinced that the Busmann brothers were engaged in the liquor traffic, why did they not proceed to watch the operations in the plant in secret and nail them with the goods? Why did they not watch the plant to bring charges against the men of manufacture, sale, transportation and conspiracy? One can only conclude that from force of habit the agents proceeded in this case in the thoroughly stupid manner that has become characteristic of the prohibition unit.

As usual, the Senate is in the spotlight and one hears few tidings of the other branch of the National Legislature. We are reliably informed, however, that it is in session and that the old steam-roller is working as effectively as ever.

RAMSAY MACDONALD'S SUGGESTION.

Ramsay MacDonald, former Premier of Great Britain, puts too much stress upon our cruiser bill, which is not designed for armament competition, but merely to fill gaps in the navy and bring it nearer to parity with Great Britain's navy. But Mr. MacDonald in his attitude on the unhappy friction between Great Britain and the United States gives sensible advice. He thinks the unfriendly feeling that has arisen is dangerous and ought not to be permitted to drift into intense feeling which untoward circumstances might lead to war.

Mr. MacDonald declares that mainly common sense is needed to dissipate sulky suspicion and that the best way to go about it is to appoint a committee of leading men of both nations to seek out the causes of unfriendliness and suggest ways and means of dealing with them.

There is no doubt about the danger of drifting when unfriendliness exists between two nations. There is no doubt about the helpful effect of publicity and informed public opinion. The better way is to face the trouble and root out its causes. Then remedies may be found. In the Venezuela case publicity and aroused public opinion put an end to the menace of war between Britain and the United States and we do not doubt that a committee of leading men of the two nations would thresh out the present disturbing situation. When governments fail in their handling of problems, it is time for people to assert themselves and bring governments to reason.

Prohibition's tenth anniversary leads Senator Shepard of Texas to speak of it as "forever anchored in the heart and purpose of Almighty God." That should settle it for Hoover's proposed inquiry commission.

A DISQUIETING INCIDENT.

In his discussion of the political atmosphere in these pre-inauguration days, Senator Harrison of Mississippi hit upon one very disquieting point, namely, the censorship of news exercised during Mr. Hoover's good will tour. It developed, upon Mr. Hoover's return, that a gag rule had been adopted on the battleship Utah, and that the reporters were compelled to have their dispatches O.K'd before they were wirelessly. The person in charge of this censorship was one George Barr Baker, who, apparently, had no official status but a great deal of power.

There seems to be some doubt as to the origin of the censorship idea. "It is possible," says Editor and Publisher, "that George Barr Baker or others on that trip assumed an authority which Mr. Hoover would not sanction." To the Post-Dispatch this seems most unlikely. It isn't reasonable to suppose that so unusual a step would be taken upon the responsibility of a subordinate, without the knowledge and consent of the President-elect. It is fair to assume that it was taken on Mr. Hoover's initiative; in any event, it was done with his acquiescence.

Is this denial of the freedom of the press a symptom of what we may expect for the next four years? It is all very well to say that, since it was a good-will trip which Mr. Hoover took it was important that no unfavorable reports of it be transmitted. That is a specious and vicious argument. The principle of freedom of the press transcends any such opportunism. It is more important that the press be free than that a good-will trip be successful. Moreover, similar excuses have been made against publicity by every corruptionist who has ever rifled a public treasury.

Freedom of the press lies at the very basis of our free institutions. It must not be abrogated at the whim or fancy of the President of the United States or anyone else, or for any political or diplomatic reason, no matter how pure the motive. We repeat that the system on board the battleship Utah, by which George Barr Baker exercised the power of life and death over news dispatches, is most disquieting. We hope Mr. Hoover will permit no repetition of it in his future relations with the press.

A FIGHTING PETITION.

City Counselor Muench has filed a motion for a rehearing on the order recently issued by the State Public Service Commission increasing the rates of the Laclede Gas Light Co. A petition accompanying the motion is a devastating document. It charges that the allowed valuation of $17,000,000 is excessive. The "going value" item of $5,318,000 is characterized as "intangible and illusive" and in excess of allowances in similar instances by this commission and by other commissions. It scores the schedule on the familiar grounds of penalizing the small consumer for the benefit of the large consumer and points out a flagrant injustice to one class of small consumers as compared with a group of still smaller consumers. It cites the fact that county residents pay less for gas than city residents will pay under the new tariff.

Most striking of all is the attack on the Laclede company's good faith. That company is charged with permitting its holding company to exploit it by various subterfuges, to increase its operating costs by exorbitant sums for alleged supervision; by purchasing gas from subsidiary companies of the holding company at prices greater than its own cost of manufacturing gas.

The petition declares the commission's order to be "unreasonable and unlawful," and announces the city's intention to appeal to the courts if the order is not withdrawn or amended. "Unreasonable and unlawful" is a harsh judgment, but we believe that judgment will be sustained in court for the reason that many of the charges made in this petition are statements of demonstrable fact.

It is a fighting petition, which is precisely the kind of petition it should be.

OUR AUDACIOUS COCKROACHES.

While committees and delegations wrangle over real estate values and rehabilitation of the river district in the location of the new Federal building, Judge Faris, with his usual precision and penetration, hits at the heart of the matter with pleasing directness in suggesting informally that the new structure be built "where there is less noise and fewer cockroaches."

The cockroaches annoy Judge Faris. They ruin the bindings of his law books in their predatory forays for muckrags and force him to keep his postage stamps in a tin box. They distract his attention as he painstakingly formulates opinions that may have to stand the scrutiny of the Supreme Court.

"I never saw such cockroaches," he said. "They actually sit up on my desk and wink at me!" Thus, in the dignified gloom of the high-railed Federal building a cockroach got only looks at a Federal Judge, but gives him the wink. And the Judge admits his helplessness! What admirable daring for a cockroach! Tenjours de l'audace!

CHINOOK GOES OUT TO DIE.

The white wilderness beckoned. Chinook answered. He has been seen no more.

We do not have to introduce Chinook. Walden's famous leader, whose illustrious grandfather fought the Arctic wastes with Peary, himself with sons and grandsons carrying on the traditions. A noble of dogdom's noblest. What days Chinook has had, always in the companionship of his friend and master, Walden! It is an Odyssey of triumphs and wreaths, the petting of gentle hands, stern battles with the elements, duels to the death, and always the rough caresses of Walden at the end of the day, or the trail, or the battle.

They went with Byrd to Antarctica. Age had come upon Chinook. Still a valiant warrior in the strife, but summoned to arms now only in crises demanding the judgment of his ripe experience and the counsel of his intuition.

As Russell Owen tells it, Chinook was dozing away long hours in camp while youngsters tugged and strained and foamed. A day or two ago, on the afternoon of his twelfth birthday he stretched contentedly from a happy nap, gazed longingly at the swirling snow and the endless leagues of ice, trotted out into the stormy twilight, and the rest is silence.

A fine old Roman exit. He sleeps well, the corporal Chinook, in his frozen bed. But in the Valley of dogs the spirit of Chinook is recouping his wonders to the two who were chosen officially to welcome him. Who those two are we have no manner of doubt. They are "Bob, the Son of Battle," and "The Kid," immortalized by Richard Harding Davis in that best of all his stories, "The Bar Sinister."

OUT FOR A NEW RECORD.

Breakdown of Utility Regulation

Nine years of squabbling and litigation have failed to solve the New York telephone case; the Gotham transportation problem is a nightmare of confusion; New York World thinks that present methods of public utility regulation have broken down and that an entirely new approach must be made to the problem.

From the New York World.

A FEW instances show all too clearly that, instead of making progress toward the solution of the problem of utility regulation, each year finds us more deeply enmeshed in a jungle of litigation and more discouragingly remote from the sound and effective control which was promised the public in the first years of the new system.

Let us first take a case which shows with striking clarity the difficulties and the interminable delays of the present system when it comes to the important matter of controlling rates.

Nine years ago the New York Telephone Co. applied for higher rates and the Public Service Commission which had been established by the law of 1907 began an inquiry. Two years passed. In 1923 the commission valued the telephone company's property in New York State at $236,000,000 and fixed a new temporary rate schedule based upon this figure. Thereupon the telephone company promptly declared the valuation ridiculously low and described the new rate schedule as entirely inadequate. With this claim it went to the Federal courts. This was Chapter I.

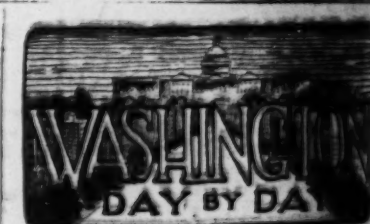

Chapter II began in 1924. The Federal courts then granted a 10 per cent increase in rates to the company as a temporary relief. The company declared that this relief also was inadequate. In December, 1925, it asked the courts for permission to make a surcharge of 25 per cent in the city and 15 per cent outside in order that it might earn 8 per cent on its own set of valuation figures. This plan the courts rejected because the decision of the Public Service Commission as to permanent rates was still pending. The way was paved for Chapter III.

Chapter III turned upon the decision of the commission in respect to permanent rates. The commission found that the 10 per cent surcharge authorized by the courts fell short by about $2,000,000 a year in providing a 7 per cent return on the value of the company's property in the City of New York. It therefore granted a slight increase. Incidentally, three members of the commission held that a 7 per cent return was sufficient; two held that an 8 per cent return was right. The telephone company, meantime, declared that the increased rates were unfair and inequitable and renewed its appeals to the Federal courts.

The fight in the Federal courts is still continuing. The testimony runs to about 15,000 pages, which would make a shelf of books on a library wall 100 feet in length. The number of exhibits filed is 2245. The cost of the case has been enormous. The hearings ended in July, 1928, and some months were then occupied in the writing of arguments by all parties to the dispute. These arguments, filed on Jan. 7 of this year, are now being studied by a special master who will submit his report to the Federal courts.

There is the serious problem which has resulted from the growth of the great "holding companies" which have come to dominate the public utility field in recent years. These "holding companies" which shape the policies of their subsidiaries, have succeeded so far in enjoying complete immunity from regulation by the Public Service Commission because their status is technically that of stockholders rather than of operators.

There is another problem in the fact that the boundary between State and Federal jurisdiction in public utility matters is now being disclosed as ill defined. A case exists in which the authority of the State is directly beneath the rounds, and is being tested to the hilt.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY.

THERE is one chamber in the Nation's Capitol building that never fails to hold a session of gloom and depression. It is the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The massive Doric columns and the ceiling are most forbidding. They are dismal. One has the feeling that he has come upon an opening in a cave or descended the steps into a burial vault.

This feeling is increased when the beholds a marble group statue in the center of the chamber. It is a memorial to three great women suffrage leaders—Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott. It is the sole object in a vast inclosure, and it would be hard to find a more suitable place could it be anywhere. When Adelaide Johnson completed the work, this was the only available place for it. Here it will stay until a permanent location is found.

At present, a simple wreath hangs in the center of the chamber. It is the wreath of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The tomb of Washington was to be seen in this chamber. A crypt had been designed, but never used.

There is another problem in the fact that the boundary between State and Federal jurisdiction in public utility matters is now being disclosed as ill defined. A case exists in which the authority of the State is directly beneath the rounds, and is being tested to the hilt.

Finally, there is still another problem in the fact that the boundary between State and Federal jurisdiction in public utility matters is now being disclosed as ill defined. A case exists in which the authority of the State is directly beneath the rounds, and is being tested to the hilt.

BOTH SIDES SEEK REHEARING IN GAS RATE INCREASE

Service Board Grants It, That Act Will Set Aside
Order Allowing $600,000
A Year Advance.

LACLEDE STANDS PAT ON ORIGINAL CLAIMS

Insists on the Right to Recoup Losses for Failure to Earn "Fair Return" in the Past.

Not satisfied with the increase in rates granted it by the State Public Service Commission by its order of Jan. 15, the Laclede Gas Co. late yesterday filed a motion with the commission at Jefferson City for a rehearing of the case. As was told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch the City of St. Louis earlier in the day had filed a motion for a rehearing on the ground that the new rates were unreasonable and discriminatory.

Since the gas company failed to file a new schedule of rates as ordered by the commission there is no effective date for a change of rates. If the commission should grant the rehearing that act would set aside the original order allowing the increased rate.

Insists on Original Claims.
In its motion the company asserts it is entitled to the full increase in rates it sought, which would have increased its revenues to $1,400,000 or more a year, and that it was entitled to earnings that would yield 8 per cent return upon the $48,190,775 valuation claimed by the company.

As has been told the commission valued the company at $47,000,000 of Dec. 31, 1927, and included the company to file a new schedule of rates within a prescribed maximum and minimum,
that would yield a return of 7.5 per cent on the $47,000,000 valuation. The commission estimated that would increase the annual revenues of the company by about $100,000.

The company contended in its motion that the commission was in error in deducting approximately $100,000 from the valuation for property not now used in public service and for changed conditions resulting from reduced prices of equipment; and that the commission should have granted the company's claim for an annual depreciation allowance of 3.2 per cent instead of 1.5 per cent allowed by the commission.

Right to Recoup Alleged Losses.
Among other claims reasserted
by the company were: That it was entitled to recoup losses it says it suffered through its failure to earn a fair return in the past.

That the minimum monthly charge should have been 50 cents, including 400 cubic feet of gas, instead of the commission's finding decreasing the minimum monthly charge from 50 cents to 75 cents;
to include 200 cubic feet of gas.
That the commission had no authority to make any changes in the valuation of the property without suspending the original valuation and making an entirely new appraisal of the property.

That the Commission erred in fixing the minimum monthly charge to 75 cents, and erred in fixing the maximum charge to 85 cents a thousand cubic feet of gas.

Relies Up Interstate Issue.
That the Commission erred in holding that it would disallow any increased operating expenses that might result from purchase of gas from two allied companies. In the hearings the company contended
the Commission was without authority to pass on gas purchases
from the Missouri-Illinois Pipe line co., an allied company, because the transactions were in interstate commerce.

That error was committed in permitting the city of St. Louis to introduce evidence, over the objections of the company, concerning the price at which this gas was purchased, and evidence concerning the value of the property of the pipe line company, which is an Illinois company.
The Commission has not indicated when it will pass upon the rehearing motions.

GREATEST INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION IN 1928

Distribution Kept Pace and Factory Employment Gained, Reserve Board Reports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The volume of industrial production in 1928 was reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board to have been greater than in any previous year, while distribution of commodities kept pace with production, and factory employment showed a rapid increase in the last half of the year.

Agricultural production was larger than in the previous year, the report, which was the board's monthly review of business conditions, said. But crops were marketed at somewhat lower prices, making the returns to the farmer about the same as in the previous year.

Steadily rising interest rates characterized the money market, according to the review. Loans on securities particularly called for higher rates, while credit extended by Federal Reserve Banks expanded rapidly, reflecting increased business activity and growth in the demand for credit to finance trading in securities.

Manufacturing activity, which had shown a recession in 1927, improved in 1928 and, despite another recession in the last two months of the year in motor cars and steel, was reported as having ended the year with the largest volume of production ever recorded at such a time—a production approximately 5 per cent larger than in 1927.

An important factor in the industrial output for 1928, the board said, was the growth in the output of automobiles. Gasoline production also passed all records while the output of tires and inner tubes was larger than in previous years. Production of steel, the report continued, exceeded that of former years due to the needs of the metal in construction and in manufacture of agricultural and machine tools. Copper and zinc production in 1928 was greater than in 1927, while large shipments of iron ore reflected steel mill activity.

Building contracts for the year, the board found, increased $380,000,000, aggregating $7,000,000,000. Substantial increases in residential buildings and industrial buildings were shown. The largest increases were in New York and the Middle West, the board said, with New England showing the greatest proportional growth.

THREE HIGH SCHOOL BOYS ARE MISTAKEN FOR BURGLARS

Police Official About to Throw Tear Bomb at Them When They Surrender.

Three University City High School students narrowly escaped a charge of tear gas yesterday afternoon when they were mistaken for burglars and took refuge in an ornamental turret of a 2-story building adjoining the Delmar Garden apartments, Delmar boulevard and Kingsland avenue.

They had fled from the fourth floor of the apartment by jumping from roof to roof.

With examinations in progress, the boys, on being dismissed from class, found entertainment in operating an automatic elevator in the apartment building, and in exploring a vacant apartment on the fourth floor. The janitor, thinking them to be burglars, gave chase and called police. A search of the roofs by Chief of Police George Ward disclosed their hiding place. He was about to cast a tear bomb when they decided to surrender. All were released.

POISON IN STOMACH; TWO HELD

Flint (Mich.) Woman Denies Causing Employer's Death.

By the Associated Press.

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 25.—Mrs. Emma Fogle, 57 years old, and her husband, Edward Fogle, 76, have been arrested in connection with the death Dec. 6 of Thomas Laree, 59. An autopsy by a State chemist showed a poison in Laree's stomach.

Mrs. Fogle, according to police, obtained property valued at $300,000 from Laree after he became ill and registered the deeds on the day he died. She had been Laree's housekeeper for five years. Her husband lived in the home. The autopsy was ordered by the attending physician when he was called to the Laree home to sign a death certificate and found the body had been removed to an undertaking establishment less than an hour after Laree had died. Mrs. Fogle denies that she had any part in causing the death of her employer.

LILL TO BUY MACHINE GUNS

Sheriff Lill of St. Louis County was authorized yesterday to purchase two machine guns and a teletype machine by the County Court. The machine guns cost about $200 each.

The teletype machine will be connected with the St. Louis University City, Richmond Heights and Maplewood instruments, making possible rapid and accurate transmission of information concerning crime.

Nurse Gains 7 Pounds in 2 Weeks with Yeast and Iron

New YEAST and IRON builds weight quickly. Your own druggist guarantees results—or pay nothing

"I am a nurse at the hospital and I am writing you to let you know I am glad to recommend your tonic. I do believe I would have been dead if it hadn't been for IRONIZED YEAST."

It gave me a good appetite. I got strong and gained 7 pounds in 2 weeks. I could write all day about how much good IRONIZED YEAST did me. You would be surprised at the strength I gained in 3 or 4 days. It surely did me good, and I will send you some of my friends' names so you can write them about it.

What Makes Ironized Yeast Work Such Wonders?

People are continually amazed at the wonderful weight-building and strengthening benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Many write that they were doubtful before they started, thinking it was just like the rest. But after taking it regularly for only 3 or 4 weeks they were surprised and delighted to find they had gained 5 to 15 pounds! Ugly hollows fill out. Skinny limbs become gracefully rounded. Pimples and boils vanish. Blemished skin becomes clear and beautiful.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it so wonderfully effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. That's why IRONIZED YEAST works so marvelously. Pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle, safe for everybody. Never cause gas or bloating.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Don't drag around with a skinny body and an ugly skin. Don't be always tired and ambitious. Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with effects, your money back instantly.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal. Of course be sure to take it regularly if you want the full benefit. And take it long enough so you not only gain but HOLD what you gain.

Amazing Numbers of Missourians Write Letters Like These:

What IRONIZED YEAST has done for all these folks it should certainly do for you. Take advantage of our generous trial offer. If not delighted, get your money back.

"Skinny," Weak, Gains 8 Lbs. in 1 Month
"Was so skinny, weak and run down, and after taking IRONIZED YEAST, in one month I gained 8 lbs. Nerves were better, slept and ate better, and really feel much alive."—Mildred Newberry, Kahoka, Mo.

Built Strength, Added 5 Lbs.
"After a tonsil operation I lost much blood, was weak and had lost weight. Took IRONIZED YEAST for 3 weeks and gained 5 lbs. But what it did most was build up my blood and strength."—Harold E. Owen, Irwin, Mo.

Gains 5 Lbs. in 2 Weeks.
"When I started using IRONIZED YEAST I was underweight, felt tired all the time. In two weeks gained 5 lbs. and felt lots better."—O. C. Lewis, East Prairie, Mo.

Tired, Nervous, Gains 12 Lbs. and Feels Much Better

"Before I took IRONIZED YEAST was always tired, nervous and under weight. Now feel better than in some time. Have gained 12 lbs. and complexion is greatly improved."—Mrs. I. G. Putner, Lebanon, Mo.

Gains 6 Lbs., Clears Complexion
"Would get up with tired feeling and dull headache every morning. Don't seem to have it any more since taking IRONIZED YEAST. Have gained 6 and 7 lbs. Yellow complexion has cleared up."—Mary Rogers, Richwood, Mo.

Skinny, Pale, Gains 5 Lbs. and New Color

"Was skinny and pale, no color, tired feeling and no appetite. Didn't think IRONIZED YEAST would help, but took it. Gained 5 lbs. Tired feeling has gone, color coming in my face and big appetite."—Leslie Todou, Kirasville, Mo.

SORE THROAT? Gargle with Listerine

Kills germs in 15 seconds

Don't let a sore throat get serious. It's a germ condition that ought to be whipped early.

At the first sign of trouble, gargle with full strength Listerine. Your improvement ought to be rapid. If it is not, consult your doctor.

Listerine, full strength, is effective against infections because it is powerful against germs. It kills even the virulent B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ in 15 seconds, as shown by repeated tests in three great laboratories.

We have a helpful free book,

Personal Hygiene, that for the asking. Write Dept. St. Louis, Mo.

And for COLDS

Colds could start when germs enter the mouth on food. By using Listerine, hands before every meal, you minimize and lessen the risk of cold. Remember, when handling baby's food.

CHARGES FRANCE DECEIVED ALSACE AND LORRAINE

Deputy Asserts Ex-President Millerand Caused Unrest by Encouraging Hope for Autonomy.

By ARNO BOSCHI FLEUROT, Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—Opening the debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the problem of the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine yesterday, Deputy Grumbach, an opponent of autonomy, tried to show that the present trouble was in consequence of the policy inaugurated by former President Alexandre Millerand immediately after the war, when he headed the commission which governed Alsace-Lorraine at that time.

As high commissioner of Alsace and Lorraine, the Deputy said, Millerand led the inhabitants to believe that they would be placed under a special regime and created the impression that Alsace and Lorraine would enjoy exceptional privileges. This encouraged the belief that Alsace and Lorraine were to have autonomy, Grumbach said.

The anti-French movement started in 1920, he said, fanned by anti-Republican propaganda. In support of this statement he cited the broadcasting of copies of an engraving representing a French workman demolishing a cathedral behind which an Alsatian workman sat in tears.

Some Sincere Autonomists. There were sincere autonomists, Grumbach admitted—poets, dreamers and patriots—but they should not be confused with calculating politicians.

Clerical propaganda was another factor contributing to Alsatian unrest, Grumbach told the Chamber; but there also were other causes for it, notably unfair treatment of local civil servants and railroad employees and the too heavy burden imposed on Alsatian taxpayers.

Deputy Brom, who followed Grumbach in the debate, numbered among the errors made by the French Government the placing of whole Alsatian families in concentration camps during the war. Then, after the armistice, when Alsace had unbonded confidence in the Republic, the Government listened to the council of the Alsatian bourgeoisie, but neglected to consult the masses.

Brom accused the administration of violating promises made in respect to institutions in these two provinces. He described as a "world scandal" the gigantic display made last year of the Colmar trial and accused the press of inciting the jury to convict the autonomist defense on penalty of being anti-patriots if they did not do so.

Misery in Both Provinces. "There is misery in Alsace and Lorraine," Brom asserted. "Terror, too, I have seen people lose their situations there because they thought they had the right to express their opinions."

Deputy Michel Walter declared the present difficulties arose from the Government's formula for unification of administration at all costs. He declared the population of Alsace never would renounce its mother tongue, which is the German language, that it was hostile to non-religious legislation and that it desired local legislation. Autonomists ask legislative autonomy only.

Walter warned the Government that to use force would be vain, and that no attempt to stifle the autonomist movement ever could succeed. The whole of Alsace had quivered with indignation at the verdict in the Colmar trials, he said, adding:

"Has it come to this? Must an Alsatian be anti-clerical to be considered a Frenchman?"

Calls Situation Grave. The situation was extremely grave, he insisted, although nothing had yet been irrevocably lost, if the Government would adopt a policy of appeasement. Otherwise, he said, disaster was inevitable, as Alsace was determined to maintain its liberties at all costs.

The debate became heated at times. Premier Poincare exclaimed after an interruption by Deputy Broggi, an Alsatian:

"I will reply to him when he wears the French decoration given to him after the armistice."

The Premier is reserving his full response to the criticisms of the autonomists until after the interpellations have been terminated. He admitted mistakes had been made in the administration of the two provinces. On the other hand, he said, he refused to allow all the good done by France in Alsace during the last 10 years to go unmentioned.

WILL AIMS TO NULLIFY STATE CODE REFORM
Measure to Restore 'Shot Gun' Motions for New Trials Reported in House.
By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 25.—A measure is under way to nullify one of the new reforms in the Missouri criminal code that have been enacted by the Legislature in recent years, through a bill pending in the House to repeal a measure passed in 1925, which requires motions for new trials for convicted persons to state the grounds in specific detail.
The bill would re-enact the former law, and again authorize the vague generalities used in the former so-called "shotgun" motions for new trial. Lawyers with criminal practice have not viewed the new law favorably.
The House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence late yesterday voted to recommend to the House that the bill be passed. Ten of the 11 members of the committee are lawyers.
Representatives Earl Roberts of Crawford County and W. P. Elmer of Dent County, both lawyers and members of the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee introduced the bill. Roberts offered a similar bill in the last session of the Legislature, but it failed on passage.
Aimed to Simplify.
The present law, enacted in 1925, requiring motions for new trial to set out the specific grounds claimed, "in detail and with particularity," is set out in section 4079 of the Missouri law.
It was part of a measure designed to simplify some of the procedure in criminal cases and to eliminate some of the legal technicalities employed to aid defendants in such cases.
In enacting the present law the Legislature repealed the former Section 4079, which did not require specific detail in the motion. The Roberts-Elmer bill would do away with the present law and reinstate the former law.
Requirements for the motion for new trial are of importance, because of the hearing the contents of such motions have upon the preparation of both the defense and State's cases in appeal to the higher courts.
The Missouri Supreme Court enacted the new law in December, 1925, and went to some length to commend its provisions, in an opinion written by Judge David E.
Blair.
"It has been the practice of trial lawyers to charge the trial court with every error it might possibly commit during the course of the trial, and thus compel the judicial points relied upon in the generality of the charges of error made," Judge Blair stated in the opinion. "Then at his leisure appellants counsel would print his record and go over it carefully and pick out one or two, possibly a half dozen assignments of error
for the consideration of the Appellate Court and abandon all of the other assignments of error made in the motion for new trial." Counsel Took Advantage.
"Defense counsel would further take advantage of the liberality of the statutes and the rules of this court toward appeals in criminal cases by waiting until the last moment and until after the Attorney-General had briefed the applications made in the (shot gun) motion for a new trial before filing his brief here. Thus he not only attacked the trial court from ambush in the motion for new trial, but compelled the Attorney-General and his hard working assistants to be prepared to meet attacks from many points in the possible field of battle where the masked batteries of the enemy might be hidden.
Judge Blair stated in the opinion that passage of the 1925 act by the Legislature served notice upon the bar of the State that such practices definitely were at an end, and that it was the duty of counsel for defendants appealing in criminal cases to be as fair with the trial court as with the Appellate Court.
TWO $50 FINES INCREASED TO $500 EACH ON APPEAL
Judge suspended Payment on Condition Man Arrested of Beating Wife and Stepdaughter Move.
Thomas Wamgan, a printer, 1111 Lami street, thought he had been unfairly treated when City Magistrate fined him $50 on each of two peace disturbance charges, Jan. 8. So he appealed.
Yesterday Judge Gayer, in the Court of Criminal Correction, increased each of the fines to $500.
The defendant's wife and stepdaughter testified that he had beaten them and had hit them with thrown dishes. His wife said she did not care to live with him any longer.
Judge Gayer stayed the fines and suggested that Wamgan move. If you don't, I'll have you moved down to the city workhouse," he said.
Committee for Anti-Bombing Bill.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 25.—
The measure to provide the death penalty for persons convicted of bombing property, was reported favorably today by the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee. Representative Marvin Crawford of St. Louis introduced the

You Will Call This Temple of Amusement, The Pride of St. Louis

FOX THEATRE
Grand Avenue at Washington Boulevard

A Portion of the STAGE and AUDITORIUM
as it looks from the Mezza-
nine.

MUSICAL history will be made when the nationally famous Adolphe S. Kornspan raises his baton for the first overture of the new Fox Theatre, opening soon at Grand Avenue and Washington Boulevard. . . Mr Kornspan has been brought from the Fox Theatre, Detroit, until now the second largest picture house in the world, to insure a degree of musical perfection as yet unattained in the local theatrical world. In association with him will be William Parsons
as conductor and choral master.

Three score of the country's finest musicians will compose the Fox Theatre Grand Orchestra. They will transport you to realms of enraptured delight and weave about the greatest pictures to be shown on the screen, a shimmering web of memory-provoking melodies; rhythmic, swinging waltzes;
lilting sonatas; colorful operatic selections as well as the modern, airy, tuneful hits of the day.

The Fox is first and foremost a motion picture theatre of rare beauty seating
6,000 and erected at a cost of $6,000,000.

BAKED STUFFED EGGPLANT IS ALMOST A WHOLE MEAL

This Vegetable Is Very Palatable When Used in Combination Dishes.

Take two or three small eggplants and boil, unpeeled, until tender.

Halve crosswise and carefully remove the pulp with a spoon, leaving the shell just thick enough to hold its shape.

Put the pulp through a coarse sieve, drain it desired, particularly dry and add just enough fresh bread crumbs to make the mixture soft, but not watery.

Add a chopped green pepper, two small onions, two tablespoonfuls of bacon fat and salt and pepper to taste.

Fill the shells with this mixture and place in a pan containing just enough water to prevent their sticking.

Sprinkle sparingly with grated cheese and bake for 20 minutes, or until browned, in a moderate oven.

Some persons like the addition of strained tomato pulp or ground left over ham, or chopped cooked dry and add just enough fresh

TOMATO STEAK

An Appetizing Way of Preparing Round Steak.

Take three pounds round steak (two inches thick), two cups canned tomatoes, two carrots, one large onion, one white turnip, two cloves, two teaspoons salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Place meat in a large pan and sear in hot oven for 25 minutes. Meanwhile pare carrots, onion and turnip, and chop fine. Remove meat from oven, add chopped vegetables and tomatoes, then add seasonings; cover, and bake in a slow oven for three hours.

LEMON CAKE PIE IS A NEW ADAPTATION

Why It Is So Named Is Beyond the Knowledge of a Scribe.

French Toast for Lunch.
Beat two eggs, add one and one-half cups of milk, one tablespoon of sugar and one-half teaspoon of salt. Cut white or whole wheat bread in three-quarter inch slices. Cut each slice lengthwise in half. Dip in the egg-and-milk mixture and then brown in a frying pan in hot butter or any shortening. Serve hot with a spoonful of marmalade on top. Apple sauce, any of the starchy fruits and preserves or jelly may be used instead of the marmalade.

Keep Pie Dough in Icebox.
Pie dough keeps beautifully overnight or even longer if kept at refrigerator temperature.

Lemon pie is an all-year-round favorite—there is no particular season when it is more popular than any other, and almost every one likes it—men as well as women.

A new variety of lemon pie which has lately become rather well known is the lemon cake pie. It is quite different from the old-fashioned lemon meringue pie, much easier to make, in that the filling does not have to be baked separately and the meringue which is the base of so many women's existence, is omitted entirely.

The crust for lemon cake pie is made just like the crust for ordinary lemon pie, but it is not baked before the filling is added.

Roll out on a floured board to thin sheet. Fit carefully into pie pan, trim off the edges and fill almost to the top with lemon filling.

Filling is made with one cup granulated sugar, one-fourth cup lemon juice, one tablespoon lemon salt, one tablespoon shortening, two eggs, two tablespoons flour, one-fourth cup milk and one lemon.

Blend the shortening, sugar and salt together. Stir in the egg yolks, flour and milk. Fold in the whites and the lemon juice.

Bake the pie in a hot oven for about five minutes, then turn the heat and finish baking at moderate temperature. Test by piercing the center with a sharp knife. If it comes out clean, the filling is sure to be cooked.

It is not necessary to put a crinoline on this pie because during baking the egg whites float to the top and form there a light flaky layer.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

They Stress Variety Either in the Form or Method of Cooking.

A glance over the menu planned for this week will offer many suggestions for pulling out of the monotony where food is concerned.

For Sunday we have used kidney and bacon for breakfast. Kidneys are valuable for the nutrition standpoint, and when properly cooked are delicious in flavor and attractive in appearance. The real kidney should be cut or cut in slices about one-half inch thick, dipped in melted fat and broiled or pan broiled for eight minutes, then served plain or on toast with crisp bacon.

Dumplings for Chicken. For Sunday dinner chicken is served with dumplings instead of potatoes.

Sift two cups of flour with one-half teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of baking powder. Rub in two teaspoons of shortening and when the mixture is thoroughly blended add two-thirds cup of milk, or enough to make a dough that will drop from the spoon. Drop into the boiling chicken cover and cook slowly for 15 minutes.

Fricassee Chicken. Recipes for cooking chicken the way never come amiss. Here we have four to five pound fowl dressed and drawn and cut up as for chicken. If the fowl is not tender, it is advisable to put the cut-up chicken into a kettle, cover it with boiling water to which a little salt has been added. When tender, remove from the liquid, each portion in flour and saute in fat until well browned.

Veal Chops and Potatoes. Pare and slice potatoes and stand in cold water about one-half hour. Use casserole and make layer of potatoes and sprinkle with salt, bits of butter and sprinkle flour over top; make another layer of potatoes and repeat until casserole is filled with enough space for the chops. Place chops on the top of these layers and sprinkle with flour, salt and milk enough to cover. A little garlic may be used for flavoring. Put in oven and bake one and one-half hours until cover on casserole is well done, and let stand in oven until hot.

Baked Ham and Apples. Have ham sliced one inch thick. Wipe with a damp cloth and trim off a portion of the fat. The ribs in as much brown sugar as will take. Place in a pan, pour with the cloves. Pare and cut the apples one-eighth inch slices. Cover and around the ham. Sprinkle the remaining sugar over the apples. Add the water, cover and bake in moderate oven 45 minutes or until ham is tender.

Corn Muffins. Four one-fourth cup boiling water over one cup cornmeal and stand till cool; sift one cup three times with two teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Beat one egg with light; add to cornmeal, then one cup milk, sifted flour and one tablespoon melted butter. Beat till smooth. Pour into muffin pan and bake in a hot oven.

THE BODY DEMANDS EXTRA HEARTY FOOD IN WINTER.

To Fill the Needs of the Body Extra Heat and Energy.

Winter weather makes for less appetites and the necessity of providing heartier foods, and of them, to fill the extra demands of the body for heat and energy.

Most children delight in exercise, especially when they are snowed for sledding and cold weather for skating.

Mothers are perpetually asked at the huge amounts of food that youngsters can consume at such times, and very often hesitate to let them have what they want for fear they will eat.

Normal children during growing period require food as an adult, and when they are exercising so strenuously food requirements often exceed those of the grown-ups.

Every lot of Standard's Royal Patent Cake Flour is tested by actual use as an adult, and when it is always found that some of the best of the world's finest bakers are actually using it in their homes.

MAKE THIS APPLE CUSTARD

FOR TONIGHT'S DINNER

You Surely Will Find It A Most Alluring Light Dessert.

Peel, quarter and core three large tart cooking apples. Cut the apples in slices, put in a saucepan with one cup of water and one-half cup of sugar and cook slowly until the apples are tender but unbroken. Pour into a serving dish and set aside to cool. Mix one-half cup of sugar with one tablespoon of corn starch and one-eighth teaspoon of salt. Add one egg and beat until well mixed. Stir this into two cups of hot milk.

and stir constantly over a slow fire until thick and smooth. Remove from the fire, add one teaspoon of vanilla or one-half teaspoon of lemon extract and pour over the apples.

PEANUT BUTTER FOR FLAVOR

It Is Palatable and Adds Nutritive Value to Many Dishes. Peanut butter can be used in many ways to make appetizing and nutritious luncheon dishes. It is high in protein value and is easily digested, so that it is a good building food for children. A good variation of French toast is made by using peanut butter as follows: Spread slices of bread generously with peanut butter that has been moistened with a little milk and seasoned with salt. Cover each slice of bread with another slice that has been lightly buttered. Dip each sandwich in egg and milk mixture using one well beaten egg to a cup of milk. Fry in butter or well clarified drippings to a golden brown, and serve hot, either plain or with maple syrup.

Home Economics

MEAT PIES MAKE USE OF LEFTOVERS

Biscuit, Potato or Pastry Can Be Successfully Used for Crust.

The use of leftovers, especially the remnants of a roast, often taxes the ingenuity of the housewife in a small family. Cold meat and plain stews become monotonous when they are served time after time, yet the same foods cooked in a savory sauce, or made into a meat pie, have the appearance of entirely new dishes.

Meat pies are not difficult to make, and one wonders why they are not used more often. When leftovers form the base, a number of combinations can be worked out, depending on the supplies at hand. Bits of potato, carrots, peas, small amounts of brussels sprouts, cauliflower or cooked tomatoes—all these may be mixed with any kind of meat, moistened with gravy and baked with a biscuit crust, a potato crust or one made from regular pastry.

The last of a boiled ham may be cut in small pieces and combined with peas, string beans or small boiled onions, mixed with a generous amount of well flavored white sauce and baked with a potato crust. This is an excellent way of utilizing the odds and ends of ham.

The potato crust may also be used for beef pie or for chicken. To make it sift together one cup of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt, and one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder. Then work in two tablespoons of fat and one cup of cold mashed potatoes with a fork. The potatoes must be very smooth; if there are lumps in them it is best to run them through a strainer before adding to the flour.

Add about three-quarters of a cup of milk or enough to make a stiff dough. Turn out on a floured board, and roll to one-quarter inch thickness.

Crust Is Sift

Place the meat filling in a baking dish, cover with the crust, pressing the edges firmly to the edges of the dish. Cut several slits in the top to let the steam escape and bake in a hot oven until brown—about 25 minutes.

Beef and kidney pie is an old favorite. Cold roast or left-over steak may be used with either veal or lamb kidneys. To make it cut enough beef in medium-sized pieces to make three cups. Cut one veal or four lamb kidneys in small pieces and roll the kidneys and the beef in flour that has been seasoned with salt and pepper. Melt two tablespoons of fat, add two sliced onions and the meat. Stir until the meat is brown, add two cups of boiling water, one-half cup table, and 4 half cup of small mushrooms.

Needs Slow Cooking. Cover and cook slowly for 50 minutes. Thicken slightly with flour and be sure the mixture is well seasoned. Pour into a baking dish, cover with potato or a rich baking powder crust rolled a scant quarter-inch thick, and bake in a hot oven about 25 minutes.

Meat pies are good baked in individual dishes. When regular casseroles are not available for this small vegetable saucers make good substitutes.

Another type of meat pie, often called made, is the old type cottage pie. This is made by using two cups of chopped cooked lamb, mutton, beef or pork that is mixed with enough milk or gravy to make it very moist. A greased baking dish is lined with a layer of mashed potatoes, the meat is put in the center, and a layer of potatoes is spread over the top. The potatoes are brushed with milk or melted butter and browned in a hot oven. Such a pie is best served with a sauce—tomato, mushroom or brown sauce.

HOW TO CARVE POULTRY

This Is a Culinary Art Which Is Very Readily Learned.

To carve poultry plunge the fork in the breast, separate the leg from the body by cutting down to the leg joint and forcing the leg over sharply from the carcass. Then separate the drum sticks from the thigh. Then slices of white meat from the breast are cut next. Disjoint the wings in the same manner as in removing the leg.

A guest is always asked for a choice of portions and if no choice is given, a slice of white meat and one of dark should be served. Carving is not easy, but may be done well by the novice if the joints of a meat are known and the knife is very sharp.

They Say Never beat eggs in an aluminum pan, as it is sure to darken them. When cooking pancakes, dip the spoon in milk or water and the batter will drop off the spoon easily.

Fancy candies can be cleaned without losing their luster by dusting with a cloth dampened in alcohol.

Ways With Cereals. Oatmeal, barley, rice and such cereals may be added to a vegetable soup. Many of the cereals may be made into puddings, which, with the addition of chopped dates or figs, or a bit of pink vegetable coloring, will make them attractive.

For Cleaning Silver Knives Try using a cork dipped in the silver polish to clean silver knives. It will solve the problem beautifully.

Simplified Gingerbread
This Week's Prize Recipe

MIXING TIME Less Than 6 Minutes For This Intriguingly Luscious Marshmallow Gingerbread

Mrs. Ray Johnston, a bride of a few months, seems pleased with her first attempt at Marshmallow Gingerbread.

A Far Simpler Way In Baking

If your husband has a leaning to gingerbread, try this simplified recipe. Of 272 women who tried it, 270 had perfect luck! Of the two who failed, one blamed her oven; the other a mistake in mixing. It's virtually a mistake-proof recipe.

By the development of an utterly new type of flour—Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour—baking has been simplified amazingly for housewives. And the cause of most baking disappointments banished.

"Kitchen-tested" means that every batch of this flour has been tested in an oven just like yours, before it goes to you. Tested for uniformity of result with home recipes.

That means Gold Medal Flour always acts the same way EVERY TIME with your recipes.

Ask your grocer for GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour. For perfect results, be sure and get that brand of flour before you try this recipe.

Cut out along this line and save

RECIPE . . . Marshmallow Gingerbread

1/4 cup shortening, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/4 cup molasses, 1 1/4 cups GOLD MEDAL "KITCHEN-TESTED" FLOUR, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tsp. ginger, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup sour milk, 3 doz. large soft marshmallows.
METHOD: 1. Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. 2. Add well beaten egg and molasses. 3. Sift flour once before measuring. 4. Mix and sift flour, soda, cinnamon, ginger and salt together and add alternately with sour milk and mix well. 5. Pour into well greased and floured pan and bake. 6. While gingerbread is still warm, split it carefully into 2 layers, place about 16 marshmallows between layers. Then place about same number of marshmallows over top. 7. Return gingerbread to moderately hot oven, 400° F., until marshmallows are soft, puffy and golden brown. 8. Remove from oven and serve at once. TIME: Bake 30 minutes. TEMPERATURE: 350° F., moderate oven. SIZE OF PAN: One cake pan 7 inches square.

LOTT AND PARTNER DEFEATED IN CANADIAN INDOOR NET TOURNEY

AMERICAN, WHO IS TITLE HOLDER, WILL PLAY AGAIN IN THE SINGLES

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—A. B. Lott, Chicago member of the American Davis Cup team, defeated the Canadian indoor tennis champion, George Lott, in the singles match, Monday night, at the Hotel Windsor, Montreal, by scores of 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, this morning, advancing to the semi-finals in the doubles division of the Canadian indoor tennis championship. Lott will meet W. F. Croker and Marcel Rivest, Montreal, this afternoon.

After defeating Paul Lafontaine and Brian Doherty, Canadian, in straight sets, Lott took his opponent, Marcel Rivest, in a three-set battle, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Paul Lafontaine, another Canadian Davis Cup star, upheld his dominance in the singles match, Monday night, by defeating Marcel Rivest, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, and then defeating Lott, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

William F. Croker, another Canadian Davis Cup star, upheld his dominance in the singles match, Monday night, by defeating Marcel Rivest, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, and then defeating Lott, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

WILLIAM MULDOON—Real Iron Man

Life Story of the 83-year-old Athlete

As a Newspaper Writer at Jeffries-Johnson Bout, Muldoon Settled a Flare-Up Between Sullivan and Corbett.

By Ed Van Every.

Of the New York Evening World Sport Staff.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

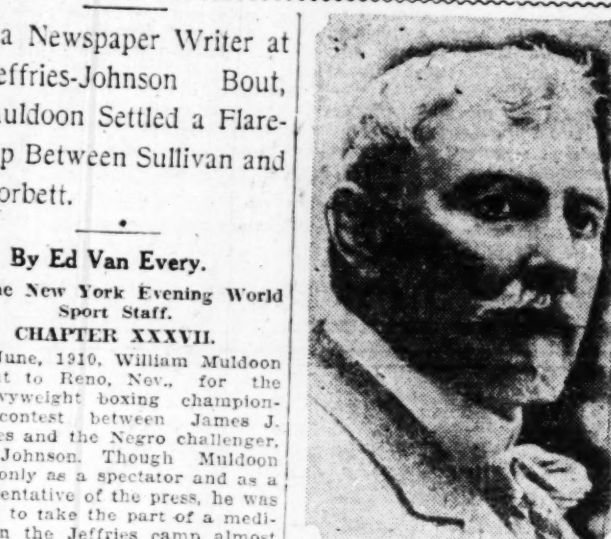

IN June, 1910, William Muldoon went to Reno, Nev., for the heavyweight boxing championship contest between James J. Jeffries and the Negro challenger, Jack Johnson. Though Muldoon went only as a spectator and as a representative of the press, he was forced to take the part of a mediator in the Jeffries camp almost with his appearance on the scene.

Though it is nearly 20 years ago since a Negro captured the high prize of Flanagan, memory of the match is still keen.

Even the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier bout had no comparison for build-up in the way of dramatic ballyhoo. Jeffries had retired in 1905 after cleaning up the heavyweight division. Tommy Burns, after emerging over a poor lot of contenders, had established himself in Australia, had gone down to defeat before Jack Johnson. Jeffries had been prevailed on to come back. He had gone into preparatory training that extended over months. Rickard, who had taken charge of the Jeffries camp, had been approved of by the promoter, promoter of boxing events, had captured the match with the then astounding offer of $101,000.

An Old Feud Renewed.

ALMOST on the day of the arrival in Reno of Muldoon into town came John L. Sullivan, and with his arrival came a rather unfortunate incident. Like Muldoon, Sullivan was writing his views for a newspaper syndicate. Only instead of writing his stuff personally, as did Muldoon, the former heavyweight champion depended upon a "ghost" writer to do his opinions. Sometimes John L. did not have any opinions, but this did not prevent expression for him. Whether or not Sullivan was personally responsible, under his signature there had appeared articles which not only belittled Jeffries but hinted that the white champion was to be the winner of a fake fight.

WILLIAM MULDOON

Jeffries became thoroughly aroused and declared that Sullivan would not be welcomed at his camp. There was no one in control who was able to get Jeff to see how unwise such a proceeding would be. Instead, Corbett, who had taken charge of the Jeffries camp, had been approved of by the promoter, promoter of boxing events, had captured the match with the then astounding offer of $101,000.

When word of this was brought to Muldoon he hurried out to the Jeffries camp at once and after a conference with Jeffries and Corbett he carried back word to Sullivan that he would call at the Jeffries camp the following day. The next day Sullivan, Corbett and Jeffries shook hands and all was forgiven.

The Pre-Fight "Dope."

MULDOON'S preliminary reports were encouraging in a way to those who had pinned their hopes on Jeffries, and then John L. did not have any opinions, but this did not prevent expression for him. Whether or not Sullivan was personally responsible, under his signature there had appeared articles which not only belittled Jeffries but hinted that the white

EMMERCH WINS FROM DOETZEL IN AMATEUR BOUT

Jack Emmerich of the East St. Louis Knights of Columbus, defeated Cliff Doetzel, South Broadway J. C. club, in the principal bout of an amateur boxing colony when he outpointed his rival in the first round, peppering Emmerich to the face and body with rights and lefts. Cliff was slowed up in the second, however, with a right which landed squarely on his jaw, and with that blow the battle turned in the favor of Emmerich. The Western A. A. U. champion had earned a decision in a previous bout several weeks ago.

Thirteen bouts were on the program, which was drawn out unusually long due to the fact that only two knockouts were registered.

The card was the first held by the South Broadway club since the Western A. A. U. took off the special 5 per cent assessment that had been placed on local amateur events in an effort to raise money to send district amateur athletes to national meets.

DR. DIEKNEITE AGAIN NAMED TO HEAD NET BODY

The entire slate of the Nominating Committee was elected to office in the annual meeting of the St. Louis District Tennis Association at the Gateway Hotel, last night.

Dr. Frank E. Diekneite, last night's president, Karl Hodge was named first vice president, Martin J. Telle, second vice president, and Wray Brown, the district champion, was retained as treasurer, and Charles Barnes as secretary.

The Nominating Committee's candidates were opposed in only a few cases. C. D. P. Hamilton was also nominated for president, but after Dr. Diekneite had received a margin of 100 votes, his election was made unanimous.

The meeting passed an amendment to the constitution of the association adding two members to the Executive Committee. The 19 members chosen were W. D. Dalrymple, Adolph Frank, Fred Jostes, Karl Kammann, Davison O'Neil, Dr. George Rice, Forrest Stockman, Otto Thiele, Edmund H. Serrano and Walter L. Pfeffer.

Dr. Diekneite was also chosen Missouri Valley representative and Karl Kammann was named as his alternate. Davison O'Neil was chosen the National Association representative.

The meeting was otherwise distinguished by the adoption of several minor amendments to the constitution and several proposals by Martin Telle for the development of junior players.

Claims Casting Record.

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 25.—Walter Williams, former member of the Chicago Casting Club, today is claiming a joint hold on the world's record in the five-eighths ounce plug accuracy event. William hung up a mark of 99.8 yesterday. His first and second casts landing just off the bulls-eye.

HOPPE VICTOR OVER LAYTON IN 3-CUSHION TILT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—William Hoppe, former balking champion, defeated Johnny Layton, holder of the world's title by a score of 490 to 384 in their three-cushion match, which came to an end at the Strand Academy last night.

The former balking champion entered the final block leading by a margin of one point, as Layton won in the afternoon by a score of 57 to 50. They alternated at taking the lead in the early part of last night's game, and it was not until the fifth inning that Hoppe began to draw away from his champion. Both players resorted to safety in an effort to win.

There were at least 20 safeties, and this was the reason the game lasted so long. Hoppe scored his 490 points in 506 innings and won six out of the eight blocks. He won a close match from the start.

It was the first meeting of the two since Layton won the world's championship in Chicago. Hoppe won the first two blocks and Layton took the last two. Five points separated the two until Hoppe won last night. His high run was four and Layton's five.

Stein to Bowl Lee Martin in 28-Game Match

Otto Stein Jr., generally regarded as St. Louis' leading bowler, has arranged five special matches of 25 games, total pins, to be bowled at the Washington alleys. The first of the contests with Lee Martin will be started tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Matches will be decided in four blocks of seven games each. Another block with Martin will be rolled at 7:30 tomorrow night, with the other pair on Sunday.

Other bowlers who have been lined up to oppose Stein are Roy Nelson, Lee Bollin, Hank Summers and Freddie Krems.

Stein announced this morning that starting today, he is sole proprietor of the Washington drives. The deal which took Joe Algier from the alleys, has been hanging fire for some time. A mixed doubles tourney, whose own partner, will be rolled Sunday night, with squads at 8, 9 and 10 o'clock.

KESSLER WINS FROM LARMORE TO CAPTURE Y HANDBALL TITLE

Rallying in the third and deciding game, I. N. Kessler, a former city handball champion, defeated Bob Larmore, 21-19, 21-21 and 21-15, last night, to win the handball championship of the Downtown Y. M. C. A. in the final of a handball tournament at the Downtown Y.

With the championship goes the right to represent the Downtown Y. in the National handball tournament at Detroit, Feb. 25. To enter the final Kessler had to defeat Jack Srenco, city champion, in his semi-final match.

In the Class B division, Woff won from Jackson, 8-21, 21-19, 21-14, to win the championship. The quarter group, and Robert Quilvin captured the title in Class C by trimming Henry Winkler, 21-20, 21-20.

Play in the Downtown Y doubles tournament will begin on Feb. 4.

TWO GAMES SLATED IN SOUTHWEST ILLINOIS CONFERENCE TONIGHT

Two games are scheduled in the Southwest Illinois Basketball Conference tonight. Edwardsville playing East St. Louis High at Ained Temple, in East St. Louis, and Belleville going to Wood River.

Wins Cue Tourney

Winning both blocks of the final match, by scores of 100 to 99 and 100 to 99, Ben Schwartz won the Y. M. H. A. pocket billiard championship from Edward Pasover in a tournament completed last night at the Y. M. H. A. Schwartz, with a run of 27, held the high run for the final match.

Los Angeles Five Asks for Right To Use New Men

Yerpe Bradburn, captain and manager of the Los Angeles team in the West Coast division of the National Basketball League, has petitioned the Executive Committee of that league to grant him special permission to sign three new players. A great void has been created in the Los Angeles club roster by the withdrawal of three star players—Duke, regular center; Wagner, regular guard; and Whitehouse, reserve guard.

These three are freshmen at Washington University. In accordance with the freshman rule of the Missouri Valley Conference, of which Washington is a member, the athletic department recently notified Duke, Springer and Whitehouse that they must cease playing in the Missouri Valley League or become ineligible for future competition at Washington. Accordingly, they quit Bradburn's team last Monday. In the game Wednesday night, the Los Angeles club was defeated by the Ely-Moss team, 2 to 3, thereby losing the league lead.

Under the Municipal League rules, no team can sign new players after the sixth league game, which was that of Wednesday last. Bradburn is therefore making a special appeal for permission to get new talent, claiming that the fact that an extraordinary condition prevails which he could not foresee.

Two of Bradburn's forwards, Flannery and Kennedy, are freshmen at the St. Louis University. The Executive Committee of the Municipal Association will rule on Bradburn's request next Tuesday.

Girls' Basket League Adopts A Split-Season

A split-season has been adopted by the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball Association. The season, originally scheduled to close Feb. 12, was found inadequate to suit the demands of the players, who contended the basketball season should extend through the month of March. Consequently, the Executive Committee of the association has completed a new schedule which will run under way. It will consist of five games, with the winner scheduled to meet the champions of the first half for the final full-season championship. Changes were also made by the league, dealing with eligibility of players. The rule which formerly forbade a team to use a player who had not been registered by a club with the A. A. U. five days prior to a scheduled game, was changed and hereafter, players registered within 48 hours prior to a game will be eligible for competition.

When a player has a season as a member of a club the player automatically belongs to that team for the following season unless released by the management of that club.

Neis Goes to Columbus

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 25.—President C. J. McDiarmind of the Cincinnati Reds announced that negotiations were completed yesterday for the transfer of Bernie Neis, veteran outfielder obtained from Seattle, to the Columbus American Association club. Details of the negotiations were not given out.

Medalists Enter Final

BELLAIR, Fla., Jan. 25.—After a poor start, Dewitt Balch of Cincinnati, medalist in the annual January tournament here, yesterday defeated Robert A. Stranahan of Toledo, in a match that went to the nineteenth hole. In the other semi-final match, Hugh Haisell of Sleepy Hollow, former national senior champion, eliminated A. B. Jeks of Manchester, N. H., 7 up and 6 to play. Jeks is Northeastern senior champion.

Let's Have More Information.

There are still many ways in which baseball clubs could keep fans better informed during games, and they have been suggested in this column for many years. Some day we will see most of them adopted. One or two already have been accepted.

The score board of today is deplorably lacking in information that could be supplied to the public. It would create customers and help educate fans if, for example the score board flashed "Hit" or "Error" on all plays, and recorded other official rulings.

Score boards are available today which tell a complete story of the game. Why not try out one on the fans, and enhance interest in the game on the part of the constantly coming up army of the uninitiated, as well as contribute to the satisfaction or convenience of better-informed spectators?

No Bull About "Moose."

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY has a distinguished basketball player in "Moose" Meyer. There is no bull about Moose's record. Moose has taken part in all three of Washington's Missouri Valley games and has totaled 41 points. In one game he tallied 25 points which surpasses by one the best performance of the famous "Stretch" Murphy of Purdue. In the three games Meyer threw 23 baskets and scored 15 free throws.

It took "Stretch" Murphy four games to equal the total points registered by the St. Louisian. Because of the fact that Washington has only eight conference games, it is improbable that the old valley record will be surpassed for the season. The high mark is 311, made in 1921 by George Williams of Missouri. The record for a single game is 29 made by Harley Wilhelm of Drake in 1923.

Here is Meyer's record for the season including nonconference games:

CONFESION IN KILLING OF BOY REPUDIATED BY NORTHCOTT

Alleged Slayer of Three Objects Violently to Use of Evidence; Ordered to Stand by Judge.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 25.—Gordon Stewart Northcott, on trial for the killing of three boys, today repudiated the "absolutely false" murder confession alleged to have been made by him and introduced as evidence from the witness stand by Deputy Sheriff Dave Croushorn of Los Angeles.

Acting as his own attorney, young Northcott objected in such a violent manner to the introduction of the evidence that it was necessary for court to order him to his seat.

The defendant's objection to the confession was based on his allegation that it was given under "extreme intimidation, threats and promises." The Deputy Sheriff testified Northcott himself had written the confession of the slaying of an unidentified Mexican boy.

EVANGELIST NOTED PAYMENT OF $2500 TO JUDGE HARDY

Almece McPherson's Private Account Book in Evidence in Impeachment Inquiry.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 25.—The district attorney's office today gave a State Legislative Committee evidence purporting to show that the $2500 check given by Judge Carlos S. Hardy to Almece McPherson was issued from the evangelist's "legal defense fund" at the time her kidnapping story developed a grand jury investigation.

The evidence which was seized at the time Judge Hardy acknowledged acceptance of the check, was obtained from a private account book kept by Mrs. McPherson the Prosecutor's office said.

The committee has been instructed by the Legislature to determine whether impeachment proceedings are warranted because of Hardy's admitted acceptance of a fee when he was serving as Judge. The Judge has maintained the check was a "good will offering" for legal advice given before Mrs. McPherson became involved in conspiracy charges growing out of her kidnapping story. The evangelist has been ordered to appear before the committee tomorrow.

Hall is the present Collector and has been reappointed by the President.

'UNDER COVER' MAN'S METHODS UPHELD

U. S. Commissioner Accepts Evidence of Salesman Who Spied on Customers.

The methods of Merritt D. Padfield, plump paper products salesman, who built up an extensive clientele among bartenders for eight years and then, turning prohibition agent, betrayed his customers to the local dry unit, were upheld yesterday by United States Commissioner Atkins as being within the law.

Attorneys for bartenders from the 51 establishments raided before Christmas on evidence gathered by Padfield had sought to have their cases thrown out (1) on grounds that Padfield, a paper salesman and dry detective, was holding two positions, in violation of civil service regulations; and (2) that Padfield, in many cases known to the arrested bartender for eight or nine years, had entrapped friends into committing a crime.

Commissioner Atkins, in upholding Padfield, said the paper salesman had offered no unusual inducements to his victims to sell liquor.

"The fact that he was a paper salesman is of no consequence," Atkins said. "It would not have made any difference if he had gone into a saloon seemingly to sell liquor. He was acting for the government and was able, without unusual inducements, to buy liquor."

Two cases, up for preliminary hearing yesterday, were marked for trial when pleas of attorneys to have Padfield's evidence cast out were lost. Padfield, with his card index of data on raids faced five more of his former friends and customers today when he resumed the stand to tell how he gathered evidence. Another crowd of bartenders, eager to have a look at Padfield so they can guard against serving him with "evidence" at any future time was on hand in the Commissioner's room at the Federal Building.

Padfield, in explaining his dual employment, implied that the sale of paper products, after he took out his badge, was a mere cloak for his activities as a dry detective.

"I didn't hold any other job when I was a prohibition officer," the investigator said, "and any other work I may have done was a side-line, not in violation of regulations."

$625,000 PAID FOR SEAT ON NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
Price Is New Record; Seller Makes a Profit of $572,000 on the Deal.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Charles C. Renshaw, a partner in the Chicago firm of Clement, Curtis & Co., was announced yesterday as the purchaser of a New York Stock Exchange membership at the record price of $625,000.

He bought the seat of Robert C. Seal, who made a profit of at least $572,000, having acquired the membership in 1913 when $3,000 was the top price.

Herbert R. Wilson of Toledo paid $625,000 for the membership of his late partner, Walter E. Snyder, in the firm of Snyder, Wilson & Co. Snyder bought his seat in 1921 when $100,000 was the record price.

WOULD AID CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Representative Introduces Bill for New State Commission.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 25.—Establishment of a new State commission to supervise, coordinate work in the interest of crippled children, to be known as the Missouri State Commission for Crippled and Handicapped Children, is provided in a bill introduced in the House today by Dr. A. H. Baldwin, Representative from Cass County.

The bill empowers the Commission to collect data, to contract for hospital treatment, to administer whatever funds are appropriated by the Legislature or contributed from other sources, for the benefit of such children, and to supervise other activities in their behalf.

The Commission would include six members, four of them to be appointed by the Governor. At least one of those appointed must be an orthopedic surgeon. The State Superintendent of Schools and the Secretary of the State Board of Health would be ex-officio members.

THREE IN MISSING PLANE

Six Ships Start Search in Utah and Nevada.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 25.—Headed by Lieut. Russell Maughan, cross-continent dawn-to-dusk flier, six airplanes took off here today to search for a passenger plane of the Boeing Air Transport Co., missing since yesterday and thought to have been forced down in the snow between here and Elko, Nev.

The missing plane, piloted by Frank Barber of Oakland, Cal., and carrying two passengers, was last seen over Secret Pass, a short time after leaving Elko to fly over the Ruby Mountains on the way here. The passengers were T. L. Pfeleger, San Francisco business man, and A. P. Ames.

Chief Raiding Officer Indicted.
NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 25.—Alvin H. Richardson, chief raiding officer of the Federal prohibition forces in Rhode Island, was indicted by the grand jury today for conspiracy to steal liquor. He furnished $5000 bonds after pleading not guilty.

WIFE'S DUEL WITH RIVAL STOPPED BY BUDAPEST POLICE

Mate of Wealthy Industrialist and Music Teacher Found With Swords in Hand.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 25.—Police prevented yesterday a duel with swords between two Hungarian women.

Challenges and acceptances were exchanged between Madame Kovach, wife of a wealthy industrialist, and Mlle. Targo, a music teacher, whom Mme. Kovach accused of alienating her husband's affections.

Yesterday morning, very early, the two women, accompanied by a group of men and women seconds, assembled in the snow in a park and were ready to vindicate their honor. Before they could exchange thrusts, however, police interfered.

The unrequited participants left the scene angrily, vowing they would find other means of settling their differences.

A 'PROHIBITION' CELEBRATION

Nation-Wide Ceremonies March 20
on Birthday of Gen. Neal Dow.

WESTERVILLE, O., Jan. 25.—There will be a nation-wide celebration of the 125th anniversary of the birth of Gen. Neal Dow, "the father of prohibition," which will be participated in by all temperance organizations, Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, announces. The anniversary falls on Wednesday, March 20.

Gen. Dow was the author of the prohibition law of Maine, and, according to Dr. Cherrington, was, therefore, the progenitor of national prohibition, and of all efforts now being made toward world prohibition. Churches of America will be asked, Dr. Cherrington said, to observe Sunday, March 17, in honor of the anniversary, while special public anniversary celebrations are expected to be held on the afternoon and evening of March 20.

DETAILS OF AMERICAN'S DEATH

BASRA, Iraq, Jan. 25.—British air force planes aided by armored automobiles are patrolling the Iraq-Koweit frontier against Wahabi raiders who vanished into the desert after killing the Rev. Henry A. Bilkert, American missionary, on Monday.

The killing occurred 15 miles from here within Koweit territory. The attackers were a party of Akhwan scouts who had been sent in advance to drive traffic off the Basra-Koweit road while the main body of raiders, 200 strong, attacked Koweit tribes. The main body attacked a party of Iraqi herdsmen, killing 20, wounding many and then decamping with 4000 sheep, many numerous horses and cattle. The raiders then disappeared.

WEATHER IS A BULLISH FACTOR IN WHEAT
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Increased about 1/2 cent today to make prices average higher, and to broadening the range of wheat trading within a fraction of the cent, the market was quiet, with a few fractional gains early. The weather was a bullish factor in wheat prices, with a forecast of a general lack of adequate snow cover in the winter wheat belt of the Missouri and Illinois country, and in part of Minnesota, Ohio and West Virginia.

Wheat closed firm at 83 1/2 cents, higher, corn 31 1/2 cents, advanced from 30 1/2 cents to 31 1/2 cents. Active general trading was in place early today, wheat in particular, prices were higher all around, and corn and soybeans were up. Severe cold weather was the stimulating factor. Local wheat started at 83 1/2 cents, and with cash and wheat futures, the local market was affected. The local market was quiet, with a few fractional gains early. The weather was a bullish factor in wheat prices, with a forecast of a general lack of adequate snow cover in the winter wheat belt of the Missouri and Illinois country, and in part of Minnesota, Ohio and West Virginia.

WHEAT SELLS HIGHER
GOOD WEATHER
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 25.—Wheat futures, 1930 crop, were higher on the local market and a few on the Chicago market. It was a weather market in wheat. May, scoring further gains early, while the Chicago market was up in afternoon cable. Corn was fractionally higher and ruled so on the local market.

NEW YORK BONDS (COMPLETE)

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Total transactions in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today amounted to $9,858,000; previous week ago, $9,858,000; previous week ago, $9,858,000. Total sales, $10,858,000. Total purchases, $9,858,000. Total sales, $10,858,000. Total purchases, $9,858,000. Total sales, $10,858,000. Total purchases, $9,858,000.

Quotations on all Liberty bonds are in dollars and thirty-seconds a dollar. That is, for instance, a sale printed $99.24 means $99 and 24 thirty-seconds of a dollar and not $99.24.

The following is a complete list of transactions, giving sales, highest, lowest and closing prices. In bond sales 900 omitted.

STOCK EXCHANGE PLAN FOR 1937 MEMBERS

Proposed to Increase Membership by 25 Per Cent—'Seat Dividend' Result.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Increase of the membership of the New York Stock Exchange by 25 per cent, and the right to dispose of its proportionate part of the increase within three years, has been recommended to members by the governing committee. It is expected that a vote of the members, necessary to approval of the increase, will be taken within two weeks.

The recommendation of the governing committee, which was in the form of a resolution in effect approving the report of a committee appointed to investigate and report upon the advisability of increasing the number of members and the methods for accomplishing that end, will represent, if approved, declaration of a "seat dividend" at the prevailing price of about $150 to the value of each seat held.

Can Sell Holdings.
While members are privileged to dispose of their additional holdings, the resolution provides that no new applicant for membership shall be considered until he has contracted to purchase the additional seat.

Committee's report said the increase in the business of the exchange last year clearly indicated that the number of members is insufficient to maintain a substantial service on the floor.

The committee considered the addition of 125 new members, which would increase the total to 1,125.

It was added that the floor of the exchange is a considerable number of additional members, although the committee is considering the addition of 125 new members.

The committee declared it was not to the suggestion of members that the exchange be permitted to permit an increase in the number of members to 1,125.

The last increase in membership was made in 1926, when 100 seats were added to the exchange.

The committee declared it was not to the suggestion of members that the exchange be permitted to permit an increase in the number of members to 1,125.

FERRARIN DESIGNATED BEST AVIATOR IN 1928

International League Chooses Him Over Capt. Kingsford-Smith by Two Votes.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The title, "the best aviator in the world in 1928," was awarded by the International League of Aviators today to the Italian, Col. Arturo Ferrarin. After breaking the duration records, he flew from Rome to Natal, Brazil, thus setting a new mark for distance.

The choice of Ferrarin for the honor was made by a margin of only two votes over Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, who commanded the plane Southern Cross which flew across the Pacific from America to Australia. The 1927 title was awarded to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

This year's trophy for women pilots went to Lady Bailey, but a medal of honor was given to Lady Heath. Both of these British women flew between London and Cape-town.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, who commanded the Graf Zeppelin on its trip from Germany to America and return, was awarded the lighter-than-air trophy for 1928. Related designation of the 1927 award in this class was given to Lieutenant-Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, U. S. N., for his feat in that year with the dirigible Los Angeles.

"First flyer" trophies were awarded also in various countries. Carl B. Eielson was named for the

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope.

Q.—You may get the book on French at any book store or the book department at the large department stores.

A.—A copy of the "Photoplay Magazine" would perhaps give you the information wanted concerning the movie stars.

Q.—To color incandescent lamps dip the bulbs into a thin solution of collodion previously mixed to suit with aniline solution in collodion. Dip and rotate gently, bulb down. 121 473.

Q.—When washing white silk for the first time put a despoiled of powdered borax over the garment. Let it soak for half an hour, then wash in the usual way. Your silk will not then grow yellow with washing.

Q.—There were religious schools in connection with the Synagogue in New Testament times.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association)

JOHN J.—If the boy was under legal age at the time he signed the contract it cannot be enforced against him, and it cannot be enforced against his parents unless they guaranteed it.

Q.—The St. Louis Court of Appeals terms begin on the first Mondays in March and October. The chief learned attorney is the President Judge. Judges are elected for a term of 12 years.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Your trouble to be properly treated should be correctly diagnosed and this can only be done by a careful examination by a competent physician. Send self-addressed envelope. Such examinations will be made and also treatment given, without charge at the Dispensary of some of the large hospitals such as Barnes, St. Mary's, etc.

Q.—The following should correct an oily skin: 2 ounces distilled water, 1 ounce rosewater, 40 grains mint, shake and apply by rubbing with the tips of fingers, night and morning. Also correct constipation, take systematic exercise and abstain from tea, coffee and all alcoholics.

Q.—The white substance forming on the eyelid is a soap substance due to chemical abnormalities in the tears and fat glands. The first indication of cancer such as described in your letter would be a general lowering of the vitality, debility, pain on pressure or otherwise, enlargement and excruciating pain. The combination of some or most of these symptoms and signs are called a "cochexia," which is characteristic of malignant or cancerous condition. Night sweats can be caused from any form of debility or weakness, infection, toxemia, etc. In the extraction of teeth a certain degree of wounding of the neighboring tissues may occur which may furnish a port of entry for any infectious material which may be in the mouth at the time.
